15TH YEAR. NO. 42.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, JULY 28, 1899.

TWO CENTS

FILIPINOS FRIENDLY.

Those In Manila Now Appreciate Our Methods.

LUZON EFFECTIVELY BLOCKADED.

"Tinclads" Did What Big Ships Could Not—Aguinaldo Will Likely Be Reduced to Using Homemade Ammunition—Health Conditions Improved.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Lieutenant Eberly, flag lieutenant of the Oregon under Captain Barker, arrived in Washington from the Philippines.

Lieutenant Eberly said Manila has been cleaned on an American plan, the military authorities engineering the work with a large force of Chinamen and friendly Filipinos. The streets have been cleared of ancient accumulations of filth and there has been a house-to-house inspection, which is still continuing. There has been more or less native opposition to these innovations, but the people are beginning to see the value of the new measures and to accept the change from the old order.

When the Oregon arrived in March, the native population was dissatisfied and in an ugly humor, even in the city itself. Cabdrivers, hotelkeepers and other semi-public servants, rendered service under protest, and even turned down American trade in some instances. Now, however, they have found out that they are paid, a thing they did not seem to be used to, and finding American official promises carried out, they accept the new sovereignty cheerfully.

Compulsory vaccination created some opposition among the natives at first, but its beneficial effects being apparent it has also been accepted.

Lieutenant Eberly says that the health of Manila is exceptionally good and that even among the troops on shore, there was little sickness from anything but heat prostration.

One of the most important naval moves has been the distribution of the 13 little "tinclads" among the big vessels of the fleet on the various stations. Through these small craft, he says, there is an effective blockade of the whole of Luzon and some boats have been sent to Mindanao, Negros, Cebu and Palawan. Most of the smuggling of arms, ammunition and food since the arrival of the American squadron has been done in small schooners known as "bankers," which can run through the island channels where the fleet could not follow them. The "tinclad" patrol boats have been doing business with those skimmers of the seas recently, one patrol boat rounding up 13 "bankers" on a single trip. It is thought that in a short time Aguinaldo will be reduced to a supply of purely homemade ammunition.

The soldiers in and around Manila are now well housed in permanent quarters or neipe houses, which are built on a bamboo framework and are cool and dry. Even on the outskirts the soldiers had comfortable palm huts before the rain set in, and, except for the intense heat, were very comfortable.

The rains had not started in earnest when Captain Barker and Lieutenant Eberly sailed for home. It was well understood then that the rains would cut off all transportation except by railway, and that is given as the reason for Lawton's abandoning San Isidro, there being a big swamp between it and the railway that is impassable during the rains.

CALAMBA CAPTURED

BY GEN. HALL'S TROOPS.

Four Soldiers Killed and 12 Wounded. Heroism of Two Officers—Mrs. Lawton Showed Coolness.

MANILA, July 28.—An expedition comprised of troops from San Pedro Macati, Pasig and Morong, under Brigadier General R. H. Hall, captured Calamba, an important trading town on the south shore of Laguna de Bay. There was about two hours of sharp fighting during which four soldiers were killed and 12 wounded. The trenches commanding the harbor were under water, but the swampiness of the land made the work harder. The troops boarded cascos the other night. The force comprised 400 of the Washington volunteers, 450 of the Twenty-first infantry, 150 of the Fourth cavalry and two guns of the First artillery. These and the gunboats Napidan and Costo assembled opposite Calamba the next afternoon. Crowds of people in carts and on foot were seen rushing to the hills. Natives escaping from Calamba in canoes said 100 insurgents held the town.

A force under Captain McGrath of the Twenty-first infantry and Captain Eltonherd landed east of the town, but found a river intervening. Captain McGrath and Lieutenant Batson swam the river under a fire from 20 Mauser rifles. Having crossed the stream the officers procured a casco to ferry the troops over. The insurgents retreated through the town, shooting from houses and hedges as they fled to the hills. A few members of the Washington regiment waded from cascos through swamps often shoulder deep, while a group of Filipinos concealed in haystacks were shooting at them, until the Napidan focussed her six-pounders and Gatling guns on the stacks for a few minutes. Most of the work was done before the Washington volunteers could reach the town.

The Filipinos left three dead. Of the casualties on the American side two of the killed and three of the wounded were members of the Fourth cavalry and two killed and eight wounded belonged to the Twenty-first infantry.

There was much shooting by amigors, who emerged from the bushes with white flags. After the fight about a dozen men holding up their hands and shouting "Castillanos" met the American cavalry. Even Spanish soldiers embraced the Americans hysterically. There were 50 Spanish prisoners at Calamba, of whom some were civil officials and some were soldiers. They had been given the choice of joining the Filipino army or becoming servants to Filipinos and chose the army, intending to surrender at the first opportunity. Most of the civilians reached the American lines during the fighting, but the insurgents took others away with them in their retreat.

General Hall captured 12 Filipinos with guns.

Major General Henry W. Lawton, Prof. Dean O. Worcester of the American Philippines commission, Mrs. General Lawton and General Lawton's son accompanied the expedition on board a launch and sat coolly in an unprotected boat close to the shore during the fighting, the bullets splashing about them.

The next day General Hall brought to Manila the Spaniards whom the expedition had released from captivity. The same day Lieutenant Larsen, commanding the Napidan, found a long missing Spanish gunboat which had been covered with bushes and fishnets so as not to resemble a vessel. The Filipinos having met reinforcements and thinking that the Americans had evacuated the town, descended from the hills intending to reoccupy Calamba. General Hall easily drove them back.

General Hall will leave a garrison at Calamba.

It was reported in Filipino circles in Manila that the insurgents recently received consignments of saltpeter and lead from Japan. The insurgents had been experiencing many difficulties in the manufacture of good powder, that which they produced lacking power of penetration and range.

The two friars who were recently arrested here on suspicion that they were the bearers of messages to Aguinaldo from the Filipino junta at Hongkong was liberated for want of evidence upon which to prosecute them.

As soon as authorization can be received from Madrid to incur the necessary expenditures, the Spanish general, Jaramillo, will send a commission composed of Senors Toral and Rios to Tarlac to carry food, money, medicine and clothes to the Spanish prisoners there. The commission will also reopen negotiations for the release of the captured. It was reported that $3,000,000 in Mexican money will be offered to the insurgents for the release of the Spaniards. General Jaramillo declined to confirm this report.

TRAITOR'S TRAGIC DEATH.

Coloradoan, Who Deserted, Held on a Bayonet and Shot to Pieces by Soldiers.

KANSAS CITY, July 28.—The tragic scene which attended the death of Corporal Leonard F. Hayes, America's only traitor in the Philippines, was witnessed by Sergeant George A. Lamarsch of Company H, Twentieth Kansas volunteers, now in this city.

Corporal Hayes, he said, became enamored of a Filipino beauty, and, deserting his comrades, was placed in charge of a Filipino battery with the rank of lieutenant. He met his death in almost the first engagement in which he fought against his country. Speaking of this battle, Sergeant Lamarsch said:

"We had charged the Filipinos, driving them back and killing and wounding many. Among the wounded left on the field we found Hayes. He was recognized by several of the boys. One of the soldiers of the Second Oregon drove his bayonet through the body of the wounded traitor, and lifted him above his head and held him there while the soldier shot him. The body was thrown into a trench and buried with several dead Filipinos. We would have treated him worse if we had known how."

Hayes was a corporal in Company I, First Colorado volunteers.

Miles and Alger Clash.

BUFFALO, July 28.—Lieutenant Colonel William E. Dougherty, Seventh infantry, has arrived here under orders from General Miles to take command of Fort Porter. Major Auman of the Thirtieth infantry is at present in command under an order from the secretary of war issued April 5. The question has been submitted to the war department as to who is actually in command of the post.

Three Transports Sailed.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Three transports sailed for Manila, the Ohio, Newport and the Tacoma. Four companies of the Nineteenth infantry, comprising about 500 men, were evenly distributed on board the Newport and Ohio, besides several hundred recruits. The Tacoma took 300 horses for the Fourth cavalry.

FARLEY THREATENED.

Mayor of Cleveland Has His House Guarded.

HE PREVENTED COUNCIL ACTING.

Objected to a Committee Being Appointed to Investigate the Strike—Said It Would Interfere With His Plans to Crush Disorder.

CLEVELAND, July 28.—Mayor Farley purposes to finish the campaign against lawlessness in Cleveland on the lines he has laid down and he will not tolerate any interference. That was made clear at the special meeting of the city council, when the attempt to institute an investigation of the strike on the Big Consolidated street railway lines by a special committee of that body was defeated.

Mayor Farley opposed the proposed action in a vigorous speech, in which he declared that the appointment of the special committee would interfere with the plans of the executive for the crushing out of disorder. He said the only result could be to keep alive the agitation and that no good purpose would be served.

Several of the councilman favored the appointment of the committee, but when the resolution came to a vote it was lost.

Many of the strike sympathizers have been very bitter toward Mayor Farley. In public meetings they have charged him with responsibility for the present trouble and threats against his life have been made. This has led him to provide a guard for his residence on Euclid avenue and detectives watch the house every night.

The presence of the troops had a depressing effect upon the rioters. The cars were operated on nearly all lines on nearly the usual schedules, but in some parts of the city they ran almost empty, the boycott of the lines by the working people being almost universal. President Everett says, however, he does not believe the boycott effective. He thinks people are deterred from riding by the fear of personal injury, and he says that as soon as the safety of passengers is assured the cars will be well filled as usual.

The boycott has extended to the soldiers. Merchants are refusing to sell them any supplies and representatives of organized labor refused to patronize anybody who takes a soldier's money for anything or supplies any of his wants. The mayors of the suburban villages held a meeting at which the presence of the troops in Collingwood and South Brooklyn was discussed. The mayors of both those hamlets said the troops were not needed.

The troops were withdrawn from Collingwood on the promise of the mayor to preserve order there.

It had been announced that there would be a meeting of strike sympathizers in the public square and the police had been instructed to prevent it. It appeared, however, that the announcement was unauthorized.

The coroner's inquest into the killing of Henry Cornzweit last Monday by a non-union conductor named Ralph Hawley has been in progress for two days. All the witnesses who have testified thus far have told practically the same story, which is to the effect that the shooting was unjustifiable, the boy having done nothing which would have warranted a resort to violence on the part of the conductor.

ST. LOUIS, July 28.—The St. Louis Baseball association has been formed and a team, to be called the St. Louis Browns, will be organized in time to take the field early next season, as a member of the new American association. The old Sportsmen's park has been acquired.

PLANS FOR KILLARNEY.

Tilden's Niece the Purchaser—Croker and Other to Have an Aristocratic Settlement.

LONDON, July 28.—It is asserted that Mr. Peck, named as purchaser of the Muckross estate, including the lakes of Killarney, is only a figurehead in the deal, which he engineered on behalf of Mrs. Edward McConkey, a niece of the late Samuel Tilden.

Mrs. McConkey is the wife of a rich Baltimore engineer, who is now residing in London.

Mrs. McConkey enlisted the aid of a famous Irish peer on the one side and of Richard Croker on the other, and, though the purchase was made by her alone, both of these gentlemen gave her assurances of their aid in developing her plans.

Mrs. McConkey's idea was to create around the Killarney lakes an aristocratic settlement on the Tuxedo plan, devoid of the clubhouse feature.

The fortunate combination of an Irish peer and Mr. Croker has interested both Americans and the Irish people in the plan.

Mr. Croker has been in town for the last three days, busily engaged with his solicitor in preparing the deeds for the purchase of the principal site adjoining Muckross House. For the site alone he stipulated to pay £200,000 and he is required by the terms of the sale to put a proportionate amount in a residence and he agrees to employ at least 50 Irish servants on the ground.

The Irish peer interested will secure the adjoining tract, where an equally beautiful building will be erected.

Muckross House will remain in the possession of the Herbert family in perpetuity, but the rest of the estate will be put on the market, under strict stipulations as to minimum values of the residences to be erected.

The picturesque caves of Colleen Bawn will be preserved and a large modern hotel is to be erected there.

The great object of the scheme is to aid residents about Killarney to tide themselves by building up tourist travel, which, it is hoped, will benefit the whole island in its political aspect.

NOT LIKELY TO HAVE WAR.

Japan and Russia Have Agreement About Korea—Former and China Friendly.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The reports that Japan and Russia are arming for a struggle over Korea are received with much allowance in the diplomatic quarters chiefly concerned, and it is pointed out that an entente cordiale was arranged between two countries last year concerning affairs in Korea. This arrangement is still in force and there has been no evidence that either government desired to depart from it.

In diplomatic quarters, concerned with the affairs of China and Japan, it is said that the illfeeling between the two countries, dating back long before the war made more acute by that struggle, recently has been obliterated by several graceful and significant courtesies exchanged between the emperor of China and the emperor of Japan.

BODY OF INGERSOLL CREMATED

Remains Removed From Dobbs Ferry to the Fresh Pond Crematory.

NEW YORK, July 28.—The body of Robert G. Ingersoll was removed from Dobbs Ferry to the Fresh Pond (L. I.) crematory, where it was cremated. The body was in a plain black coffin without ornament. The top of the coffin was covered with roses.

The funeral party included Mrs. Ingersoll, her two daughters, Clinton B. Garrell, Walston H. Brown, Major O. J. Smith and Mrs. Smith and Frederick C. Penfield.

Jeffries Sailed For Europe.

NEW YORK, July 28.—James Jeffries, the pugilist, sailed for Southampton on the Fuerst Bismarck. The state room was filled with the floral offerings of his admirers, and, just before the ship sailed, he was presented with a life size picture of himself. Jeffries' trip is for both business and pleasure. So far he has two matches on in England, and from London he will go to Paris, where he is to box Jem Smith, the former champion of England. Jeffries will also give exhibitions in theaters in London and Paris.

Geneva Articles to Naval Warfare.

THE HAGUE, July 28.—The plenary conference adopted the preamble dealing with the laws and customs of war and the adaptation of the Geneva convention to naval war. The articles of the two conventions were definitely adopted. The arbitration scheme still awaits Great Britain's acceptance of and accession to the plan.

Just Had Time to Stop the Train, After Discovering the Accident—Trains Had to Run Over the Cleveland and Marietta Railroad.

CAMBRIDGE, July 28.—The main line of the Baltimore and Ohio was completely blockaded by the caving in of a tunnel just west of here. The caving occurred about 20 minutes after the regular westbound passenger had passed through. The track inspector who discovered the accident had just time to stop a special and save it from destruction.

The tunnel is 700 feet long and at least half of it has fallen in. All trains are running over the Cleveland and Marietta railway. It will be at least two weeks before the obstruction is cleared away.

HANNA PROPERTY TRANSFERRED.

Also Negotiating to Sell Their Coal Property in Pittsburgh District.

CLEVELAND, July 28.—A big transaction involving the transfer of property worth several millions of dollars from M. A. Hanna & Co. to the National Steel company was consummated. The sale, according to the best information obtainable, including the iron mining property of M. A. Hanna & Co. in Michigan, as well as their fleet of vessels on the lakes.

This transaction, which is one of the largest in recent years, means that M. A. Hanna & Co. are to retire from the mining and transportation business. It is also known that the firm is negotiating for the sale of its coal mining property in the Pittsburgh district to the recently formed soft coal trust.

Brown Succeeds Miller.

ALLIANCE, July 28.—Commencement at Mt. Union college took place before one of the largest throngs ever assembled there. There was a long list of graduates. The following degrees were conferred: Doctor of divinity, Rev. J. W. Robbins, presiding elder of the Akron district Methodist Episcopal conference; Rev. Union college, to succeed the late Lewis Miller of Akron.

Should Stay Away From Klondike.

WELLSVILLE, July 28.—A letter was received here from William H. Whitten, who left for the Klondike some 18 months ago. He says: "I am one of the hundreds of young men who have endured almost everything and secured no gold." The petition of the Kusalers has arrived too late.

PLANS FOR KILLARNEY.

Tilden's Niece the Purchaser—Croker and Other to Have an Aristocratic Settlement.

LONDON, July 28.—It is asserted that Mr. Peck, named as purchaser of the Muckross estate, including the lakes of Killarney, is only a figurehead in the deal, which he engineered on behalf of Mrs. Edward McConkey, a niece of the late Samuel Tilden.

Mrs. McConkey is the wife of a rich Baltimore engineer, who is now residing in London.

Mrs. McConkey enlisted the aid of a famous Irish peer on the one side and of Richard Croker on the other, and, though the purchase was made by her alone, both of these gentlemen gave her assurances of their aid in developing her plans.

Mrs. McConkey's idea was to create around the Killarney lakes an aristocratic settlement on the Tuxedo plan, devoid of the clubhouse feature.

The fortunate combination of an Irish peer and Mr. Croker has interested both Americans and the Irish people in the plan.

Mr. Croker has been in town for the last three days, busily engaged with his solicitor in preparing the deeds for the purchase of the principal site adjoining Muckross House. For the site alone he stipulated to pay £200,000 and he is required by the terms of the sale to put a proportionate amount in a residence and he agrees to employ at least 50 Irish servants on the ground.

The Irish peer interested will secure the adjoining tract, where an equally beautiful building will be erected.

Muckross House will remain in the possession of the Herbert family in perpetuity, but the rest of the estate will be put on the market, under strict stipulations as to minimum values of the residences to be erected.

The picturesque caves of Colleen Bawn will be preserved and a large modern hotel is to be erected there.

The great object of the scheme is to aid residents about Killarney to aid themselves by building up tourist travel, which, it is hoped, will benefit the whole island in its political aspect.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The reports that Japan and Russia are arming for a struggle over Korea are received with much allowance in the diplomatic quarters chiefly concerned, and it is pointed out that an entente cordiale was arranged between two countries last year concerning affairs in Korea. # EVENING NEWS REVIEW.

15TH YEAR. NO. 42.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, JULY 28, 1899.

TWO CENTS

FILIPINOS FRIENDLY.

Those In Manila Now Appreciate Our Methods.

LUZON EFFECTIVELY BLOCKADED.

"Tinclads" Did What Big Ships Could Not—Aguinaldo Will Likely Be Reduced to Using Homemade Ammunition—Health Conditions Improved.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Lieutenant Eberly, flag lieutenant of the Oregon under Captain Barker, arrived in Washington from the Philippines.

Lieutenant Eberly said Manila has been cleaned on an American plan, the military authorities engineering the work with a large force of Chinamen and friendly Filipinos. The streets have been cleared of ancient accumulations of filth and there has been a house-to-house inspection, which is still continuing. There has been more or less native opposition to these innovations, but the people are beginning to see the value of the new measures and to accept the change from the old order.

When the Oregon arrived in March, the native population was dissatisfied and in an ugly humor, even in the city itself. Cabdrivers, hotelkeepers and other semi-public servants, rendered service under protest, and even turned down American trade in some instances. Now, however, they have found out that they are paid, a thing they did not seem to be used to, and finding American official promises carried out, they accept the new sovereignty cheerfully.

Compulsory vaccination created some opposition among the natives at first, but its beneficial effects being apparent it has also been accepted.

Lieutenant Eberly says that the health of Manila is exceptionally good and that even among the troops on shore, there was little sickness from anything but heat prostration.

One of the most important naval moves has been the distribution of the 13 little "tinclads" among the big vessels of the fleet on the various stations. Through these small craft, he says, there is an effective blockade of the whole of Luzon and some boats have been sent to Mindanao, Negros, Cebu and Palawan. Most of the smuggling of arms, ammunition and food since the arrival of the American squadron has been done in small schooners known as "bankers," which can run through the island channels where the fleet could not follow them. The "tinclad" patrol boats have been doing business with those skimmers of the seas recently, one patrol boat rounding up 13 "bankers" on a single trip. It is thought that in a short time Aguinaldo will be reduced to a supply of purely homemade ammunition.

The soldiers in and around Manila are now well housed in permanent quarters or neipe houses, which are built on a bamboo framework and are cool and dry. Even on the outskirts the soldiers had comfortable palm huts before the rain set in, and, except for the intense heat, were very comfortable.

The rains had not started in earnest when Captain Barker and Lieutenant Eberly sailed for home. It was well understood then that the rains would cut off all transportation except by railway, and that is given as the reason for Lawton's abandoning San Isidro, there being a big swamp between it and the railway that is impassable during the rains.

CALAMBA CAPTURED

BY GEN. HALL'S TROOPS.

Four Soldiers Killed and 12 Wounded. Heroism of Two Officers—Mrs. Lawton Showed Coolness.

MANILA, July 28.—An expedition comprised of troops from San Pedro Macati, Pasig and Morong, under Brigadier General R. H. Hall, captured Calamba, an important trading town on the south shore of Laguna de Bay. There was about two hours of sharp fighting during which four soldiers were killed and 12 wounded. The trenches commanding the harbor were under water, but the swampiness of the land made the work harder. The troops boarded cascos the other night. The force comprised 400 of the Washington volunteers, 450 of the Twenty-first infantry, 150 of the Fourth cavalry and two guns of the First artillery. These and the gunboats Napidan and Costo assembled opposite Calamba the next afternoon. Crowds of people in carts and on foot were seen rushing to the hills. Natives escaping from Calamba in canoes said 100 insurgents held the town.

A force under Captain McGrath of the Twenty-first infantry and Captain Eltonherd landed east of the town, but found a river intervening. Captain McGrath and Lieutenant Batson swam the river under a fire from 20 Mauser rifles. Having crossed the stream the officers procured a casco to ferry the troops over. The insurgents retreated through the town, shooting from houses and bushes as they fled to the hills. Three members of the Washington regiment waded from cascos through swamps often shoulder deep, while a group of Filipinos concealed in haystacks were shooting at them, until the Napidan focussed her six-pounders and Gatling guns on the stacks for a few minutes. Most of the work was done before the Washington volunteers could reach the town.

The Filipinos left three dead. Of the casualties on the American side two of the killed and three of the wounded were members of the Fourth cavalry and two killed and eight wounded belonged to the Twenty-first infantry.

There was much shooting by amigos, who emerged from the bushes with white flags. After the fight about a dozen men holding up their hands and shouting "Castillanos" met the American cavalry. Even Spanish soldiers embraced the Americans hysterically. There were 50 Spanish prisoners at Calamba, of whom some were civil officials and some were soldiers. They had been given the choice of joining the Filipino army or becoming servants to Filipinos and chose the army, intending to surrender at the first opportunity. Most of the civilians reached the American lines during the fighting, but the insurgents took others away with them in their retreat.

General Hall captured 12 Filipinos with guns.

Major General Henry W. Lawton, Prof. Dean O. Worcester of the American Philippines commission, Mrs. General Lawton and General Lawton's son accompanied the expedition on board a launch and sat coolly in an unprotected boat close to the shore during the fighting, the bullets splashing about them.

The next day General Hall brought to Manila the Spaniards whom the expedition had released from captivity. The same day Lieutenant Larsen, commanding the Napidan, found a long missing Spanish gunboat which had been covered with bushes and fishnets so as not to resemble a vessel. The Filipinos having met reinforcements and thinking that the Americans had evacuated the town, descended from the hills intending to recapture Calamba. General Hall easily drove them back.

General Hall will leave a garrison at Calamba.

It was reported in Filipino circles in Manila that the insurgents recently received consignments of saltpeter and lead from Japan. The insurgents had been experiencing many difficulties in the manufacture of good powder, that which they produced lacking power of penetration and range.

The two friars who were recently arrested here on suspicion that they were the bearers of messages to Aguinaldo from the Filipino junta at Hongkong was liberated for want of evidence upon which to prosecute them.

As soon as authorization can be received from Madrid to incur the necessary expenditures, the Spanish general, Jaramillo, will send a commission composed of Senors Toral and Rios to Tarlac to carry food, money, medicine and clothes to the Spanish prisoners there. The commission will also reopen negotiations for the release of the captured. It was reported that $3,000,000 in Mexican money will be offered to the insurgents for the release of the Spaniards. General Jaramillo declined to confirm this report.

TRAITOR'S TRAGIC DEATH.

Coloradoan, Who Deserted, Held on a Bayonet and Shot to Pieces by Soldiers.

KANSAS CITY, July 28.—The tragic scene which attended the death of Corporal Leonard F. Hayes, America's only traitor in the Philippines, was witnessed by Sergeant George A. Lamarsch of Company H, Twentieth Kansas volunteers, now in this city.

Corporal Hayes, he said, became enamored of a Filipino beauty, and, deserting his comrades, was placed in charge of a Filipino battery with the rank of lieutenant. He met his death in almost the first engagement in which he fought against his country. Speaking of this battle, Sergeant Lamarsch said:

"We had charged the Filipinos, driving them back and killing and wounding many. Among the wounded left on the field we found Hayes. He was recognized by several of the boys. One of the soldiers of the Second Oregon drove his bayonet through the body of the wounded traitor, and lifted him above his head and held him there while the soldier shot him. The body was thrown into a trench and buried with several dead Filipinos. We would have treated him worse if we had known how."

Hayes was a corporal in Company I, First Colorado volunteers.

Major Auman of the Thirtieth infantry is at present in command under an order from the secretary of war issued April 5. The question has been submitted to the war department as to who is actually in command of the post.

Three Transports Sailed.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Three transports sailed for Manila, the Ohio, Newport and the Tacoma. Four companies of the Nineteenth infantry, comprising about 500 men, were evenly distributed on board the Newport and Ohio, besides several hundred recruits. The Tacoma took 300 horses for the Fourth cavalry.

FARLEY THREATENED.

Mayor of Cleveland Has His House Guarded.

HE PREVENTED COUNCIL ACTING.

Objected to a Committee Being Appointed to Investigate the Strike—Said It Would Interfere With His Plans to Crush Disorder.

CLEVELAND, July 28.—Mayor Farley purposes to finish the campaign against lawlessness in Cleveland on the lines he has laid down and he will not tolerate any interference. That was made clear at the special meeting of the city council, when the attempt to institute an investigation of the strike on the Big Consolidated street railway lines by a special committee of that body was defeated.

Mayor Farley opposed the proposed action in a vigorous speech, in which he declared that the appointment of the special committee would interfere with the plans of the executive for the crushing out of disorder. He said the only result could be to keep alive the agitation and that no good purpose would be served.

Several of the councilmen favored the appointment of the committee, but when the resolution came to a vote it was lost.

Many of the strike sympathizers have been very bitter toward Mayor Farley. In public meetings they have charged him with responsibility for the present trouble and threats against his life have been made. This has led him to provide a guard for his residence on Euclid avenue and detectives watch the house every night.

The presence of the troops had a depressing effect upon the rioters. The cars were operated on nearly all lines on nearly the usual schedules, but in some parts of the city they ran almost empty, the boycott of the lines by the working people being almost universal. President Everett says, however, he does not believe the boycott effective. He thinks people are deterred from riding by the fear of personal injury, and he says that as soon as the safety of passengers is assured the cars will be well filled as usual.

The boycott has extended to the soldiers. Merchants are refusing to sell them any supplies and representatives of organized labor refused to patronize anybody who takes a soldier's money for anything or supplies any of his wants. The mayors of the suburban villages held a meeting at which the presence of the troops in Collingwood and South Brooklyn was discussed. The mayors of both those hamlets said the troops were not needed.

The troops were withdrawn from Collingwood on the promise of the mayor to preserve order there.

It had been announced that there would be a meeting of strike sympathizers in the public square and the police had been instructed to prevent it. It appeared, however, that the announcement was unauthorized.

The coroner's inquest into the killing of Henry Cornwell last Monday by a non-union conductor named Ralph Hawley has been in progress for two days. All the witnesses who have testified thus far have told practically the same story, which is to the effect that the shooting was unjustifiable, the boy having done nothing which would have warranted a resort to violence on the part of the conductor.

If C. E. Boyd or C. E. Allen is brought to Pittsburg C. E. Dye, who claims Allen defrauded him out of $115.25, will enter a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses against him.

Dye was seen in the East End this morning, and when asked if he would bring any action against him said: "I see no reason why Allen should not be given the full extent of the law. He got all the money from me I had and why should I not recover it from him if possible? Had I held off going on the road for Allen, selling brick from the East End plant, for several days longer, I would have been safe, but as it is, I lost everything. I expect to go to Pittsburg when Allen is brought back, and I assure you that I do not desire to let the case drop until my claim is settled."

His Guilt.

Mayor Bough returned last evening from Lisbon and was in his office as usual this morning.

There were no arrests last night, and the only inmate of the city jail is Newell Buzzard. He has not yet been given a hearing, but admitted that he had forged the name of Amos Anderson to the order on the West End Coal company for $1.50 and also told how he had collected $2.60 from Monroe Patterson. The boy has already served one term in the Lancaster reformatory, and will probably be sent there again.

Last Monday Ella McConnell appeared at the office of the mayor and made complaint against Charles Gerry for intoxication and using abusive and profane language. A warrant has been issued for his arrest.

Prospects of a Fight.

It is possible that at the forthcoming Democratic county convention the old fight to secure control of the party machinery in the county will again break out. Potts will try to again secure the management of affairs.—Buckeye State.

ARE MAD ABOUT IT.

Northern County Democrats Are Kicking
on Way Call Was Issued.

Under the heading "A Quiet Call" the Salem Herald says: "J. J. Weisend, chairman of the Democratic county committee, has issued a call for the Democratic county convention. It seems that the call was exclusively published in the East Liverpool Crisis on July 19. Until yesterday no part of the county, outside of East Liverpool, was aware of the fact that the call had been issued. The date set for the convention is next Tuesday, Aug. 1. This leaves mighty little time for outlying townships to select delegates. Weisend may have been satisfied with publishing the call in a paper which professes no politics at all, but the woods are full of Democrats up this way who in no wise sympathize in the action of the county chairman in being so quiet with the party's business."

A NEW ORDER.

End.

If C. E. Boyd or C. E. Allen is brought to Pittsburg C. E. Dye, who claims Allen defrauded him out of $115.25, will enter a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses against him.

Dye was seen in the East End this morning, and when asked if he would bring any action against him said: "I see no reason why Allen should not be given the full extent of the law. He got all the money from me I had and why should I not recover it from him if possible? Had I held off going on the road for Allen, selling brick from the East End plant, for several days longer, I would have been safe, but as it is, I lost everything. I expect to go to Pittsburg when Allen is brought back, and I assure you that I do not desire to let the case drop until my claim is settled."

AN ACCIDENT

Is Caused by a Low Place on Pennsylvania
Avenue.

Last evening a horse driven by C. A. Bough became frightened in East End at one of the banners on a street car. The animal plunged forward, struck a low place in the road and fell, breaking one of the shafts, which ran into its hind leg. The occupant of the buggy was not injured.

Prospects of a Fight.

It is possible that at the forthcoming Democratic county convention the old fight to secure control of the party machinery in the county will again break out. The element at the county seat complains that the present organization is lifeless, lacking earnestness and aggressiveness, and it is said W. S. Potts will try to again secure the management of affairs.—Buckeye State.

The Circus Is Here.

The Harris Nickel Plate shows arrived in the city this morning and stretched their tents upon Brunt's hill. The show is one of the oldest and best on the road and will do a good business, as the afternoon performance was witnessed by a large crowd. The evening performance will begin at 8 o'clock.

SPRING GROVE.

Amanda Smith Will Be Present and Deliver Addresses.

The services at Spring Grove campground yesterday were well attended and were very interesting. Amanda Smith delivered addresses at each service. The music was splendid.

A report has been circulated that Amanda Smith would not be at the campground on Sunday. The report is false in every particular, as she will not only be present, but will deliver addresses at each service. Special music has been engaged for the day.

Mrs. William Chisholm, of Pittsburg, spent yesterday at the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gipner, Mrs. J. T. Elliott and Mrs. M. B. Johnson were visitors at the grounds yesterday.

Fell Off a Bicycle.

Miss Hattie Thomas yesterday morning started out for a bicycle ride to Smith's Ferry. The first part of the trip was made in safety, but on the return trip she ran into a gutter at the foot of Dry Run hill and took a header. She was able to continue her ride home, but received several severe bruises.

ARE MAD ABOUT IT.

Northern County Democrats Are Kicking
on Way Call Was Issued.

Under the heading "A Quiet Call" the Salem Herald says: "J. J. Weisend, chairman of the Democratic county committee, has issued a call for the Democratic county convention. It seems that the call was exclusively published in the East Liverpool Crisis on July 19. Until yesterday no part of the county, outside of East Liverpool, was aware of the fact that the call had been issued. The date set for the convention is next Tuesday, Aug. 1. This leaves mighty little time for outlying townships to select delegates. Weisend may have been satisfied with publishing the call in a paper which professes no politics at all, but the woods are full of Democrats up this way who in no wise sympathize in the action of the county chairman in being so quiet with the party's business."

A NEW ORDER.

Newspapers Are Now Banned at the Wells-
ville Shops.

At the Wellsville shops of the Pennsylvania company orders have been posted prohibiting the distribution of newspapers during working hours. The foremen claim that the papers were read by the men while at work, and that much time was lost. The rules will not interfere with the men receiving their papers at the gate entrances during the noon hour, or after their day's work is finished.

At the First Greater America Colonial exposition, which was opened in Omaha July 1 and will continue to Nov. 1, 1899, a minimum of 45,000 lights will be employed, and through their aid a fairy city has thus far been constructed, which is more like a crystallized dream or a magic city, created by a wave of the wand, than a thing of stone and plaster and mortar and brick, says The Electrical Age. Electric lighting is done by the aid of underground cables. A novel feature is the race track. At night races are run over a course as bright as day. Searchlights, focusing lamps and incandescent lamps will be used ad libitum.

Jerry Morrow, "the little man of Turkeyfoot," across the river from Steubenville, O., died the other day. He was 29 years of age, was only about 40 inches high and weighed about 38 pounds. John Bull once tried to stop his growth, But Sam hit out at once; So poor, old John for peace was loath And ceased the youth to bounce. To manhood's lusty force and vim He grew at freedom's call, And millions went to worship him, So he made room for all. Mighty Uncle Sam! Glorious Uncle Sam! From sea to sea, great, brave and free, Spread dauntless Uncle Sam!

John Bull, with proud and loving heart, This message to him sends: "Dear Sam—Of me you are a part— We must, we shall, be friends; United, we'll dare war's alarms— Shake hands, my boy, my Sam. Hurrah! A Midget Who Was Never a Freak.

Jerry Morrow, "the little man of Turkeyfoot," across the river from Steubenville, O., died the other day. He was 29 years of age, was only about 40 inches high and weighed about 38 pounds. His brain development, considering his small physique, was wonderful, and he possessed scholarly tastes and was a natural musician, says the Columbus Dispatch. He was never exhibited in freak shows, his taste rebelling against such exhibitions.

John Bull and Uncle Sam.

John Bull once had a little boy Who ran away from home; The hardy fellow, full of joy, Loved in the west to roam; He had the daring of his sire, He had his genius too, And though he passed through storms of fire He aye the stronger grew. Fighting little Sam! Plucky little Sam! A world to be for mankind free Saw pushing little Sam!

John Bull once tried to stop his growth, But Sam hit out at once; So poor, old John for peace was loath And ceased the youth to bounce. To manhood's lusty force and vim He grew at freedom's call, And millions went to worship him, So he made room for all. Mighty Uncle Sam! Glorious Uncle Sam! From sea to sea, great, brave and free, Spread dauntless Uncle Sam!

John Bull, with proud and loving heart, This message to him sends: "Dear Sam—Of me you are a part— We must, we shall, be friends; United, we'll dare war's alarms— Shake hands, my boy, my Sam. Hurrah! Come all the world in arms, We will not care a — (clam)! " The union jack of John, The stars and stripes of Sam, Shall rulers be on land and sea— Three cheers for John and Sam! —London Truth.

CLEANLINESS.

"Cleanliness is akin to Godliness."
Judging by this standard, and applying
it to the condition of some of our thoroughfares, those in charge of affairs must be hidden deep in the wilderness of sin and uncleanness.

OUR POLICE.

Let them enforce the law. Kill the unmuzzled curs and let the remains rest, simply notifying the health officer, who is in charge of such affairs, that the bodies of the canines await his pleasure.
Kill the curs. We don't want any cases of hydrophobia, and the city don't want to pay any unnecessary bills. The majority of our council have already burdened the taxpayers.

HAVE YOU SEEN SMITH?

If You Have His Bondsmen
Would Like to See You.

HE HAS DISAPPEARED SUDDENLY

And Failed to Put In an Appearance Last
Evening When His Case was Called For Hearing Before Justice McLane--His
Bond Declared Forfeited.

"Where is Smith?" is the question that his bondsmen are now asking each
other.

Last evening in the court of Justice
McLane the case of the state of Ohio
against William Smith, charged with assault by Miss Jessie Shamp, was set for hearing. Smith had been arrested
last Saturday evening and upon his appearance in court Monday morning had given bond in the sum of $500 for his appearance in court last evening, with
E. W. Hill, A. Bernstein, John Mear
Smith and James Smith as securities.

The trial was set for 7:30 last evening,
and at the appointed time the witnesses
for the state, Miss Jessie Shamp, Isaac Shamp and Harry Thompson, were present, as was Attorney Thompson,
who intended to look after the state's
end of the case. Attorney W. H. Hill, counsel for Smith, was also present, and
there was a good audience, but Smith
was not there.

The hour of 8 o'clock arrived and still
he had not come, and the little party assembled spent some time in discussing
his disappearance. Finally Justice
McLane broke the monotony by announcing that the bond was forfeited,
but the bondsmen would be given a
reasonable time to produce their man.
They will not have to pay the sum for
some time should Smith fail to appear,
as the case will first have to go to common pleas court and the bond be declared forfeited there.

The bondsmen will make every effort
to find out where Smith has gone but at present have no clue to his whereabouts.
Smith attended lodge on Tuesday evening and seemed in good spirits and some people claim they saw him as late as Wednesday evening. In this case he must have left town on the 5 o'clock
train. The bondsmen are confident that they will succeed in getting Smith.

SMITH'S STATEMENT.

Declared His Innocence to the News Review Shortly After
He Was Arrested.

Shortly after Smith had been released
on bail he called at the office of the News Review and made a clear statement saying that he could prove he was not guilty of the charge and that it was a case of blackmail. He asked that the paper withhold comment on the case
until the trial and if he was proved guilty to give him hades. Officers are now seeking to give him the object of his desire. Smith stated that if he was guilty of the charge no sentence could
be too heavy for him.

TO ENGLAND.

The Supposition Is That Smith
Has Already Started
For Europe.

There is a rumor that Smith has

police in the various cities have been

HAVE YOU SEEN SMITH?

If You Have His Bondsmen
Would Like to See You.

HE HAS DISAPPEARED SUDDENLY

And Failed to Put In an Appearance Last
Evening When His Case Was Called For
Hearing Before Justice McLane--His
Bond Declared Forfeited.

"Where is Smith?" is the question that
his bondsmen are now asking each
other.

Last evening in the court of Justice
McLane the case of the state of Ohio
against William Smith, charged with assault by Miss Jessie Shamp, was set
for hearing. Smith had been arrested
last Saturday evening and upon his appearance in court Monday morning had given bond in the sum of $500 for his
appearance in court last evening, with
E. W. Hill, A. Bernstein, John Mear
Smith and James Smith as securities.

The trial was set for 7:30 last evening,
and at the appointed time the witnesses
for the state, Miss Jessie Shamp, Isaac Shamp and Harry Thompson, were present, as was Attorney Thompson,
who intended to look after the state's
end of the case. Attorney W. H. Hill,
counsel for Smith, was also present, and
there was a good audience, but Smith
was not there.

The hour of 8 o'clock arrived and still
he had not come, and the little party
assembled spent some time in discussing
his disappearance. Finally Justice
McLane broke the monotony by announcing that the bond was forfeited,
but the bondsmen would be given a
reasonable time to produce their man.
They will not have to pay the sum for
some time should Smith fail to appear,
as the case will first have to go to common pleas court and the bond be declared forfeited there.

The bondsmen will make every effort
to find out where Smith has gone but at
present have no clue to his whereabouts.
Smith attended lodge on Tuesday evening and seemed in good spirits and some people claim they saw him as late as Wednesday evening. In this case he must have left town on the 5 o'clock
train. The bondsmen are confident that they will succeed in getting Smith.

HAVE YOU SEEN SMITH?

If You Have His Bondsmen
Would Like to See You.

HE HAS DISAPPEARED SUDDENLY

And Failed to Put In an Appearance Last
Evening When His Case Was Called For
Hearing Before Justice McLane--His
Bond Declared Forfeited.

"Where is Smith?" is the question that
his bondsmen are now asking each
other.

Last evening in the court of Justice
McLane the case of the state of Ohio
against William Smith, charged with assault by Miss Jessie Shamp, was set
for hearing. Smith had been arrested
last Saturday evening and upon his appearance in court Monday morning had given bond in the sum of $500 for his
appearance in court last evening, with
E. W. Hill, A. Bernstein, John Mear
Smith and James Smith as securities.

The trial was set for 7:30 last evening,
and at the appointed time the witnesses
for the state, Miss Jessie Shamp, Isaac Shamp and Harry Thompson, were present, as was Attorney Thompson,
who intended to look after the state's
end of the case. Attorney W. H. Hill,
counsel for Smith, was also present, and
there was a good audience, but Smith
was not there.

The hour of 8 o'clock arrived and still
he had not come, and the little party
assembled spent some time in discussing
his disappearance. Finally Justice
McLane broke the monotony by announcing that the bond was forfeited,
but the bondsmen would be given a
reasonable time to produce their man.
They will not have to pay the sum for
some time should Smith fail to appear,
as the case will first have to go to common pleas court and the bond be declared forfeited there.

The bondsmen will make every effort
to find out where Smith has gone but at
present have no clue to his whereabouts.
Smith attended lodge on Tuesday evening and seemed in good spirits and some people claim they saw him as late as Wednesday evening. In this case he must have left town on the 5 o'clock
train. The bondsmen are confident that they will succeed in getting Smith.

SMITH'S STATEMENT.

Declared His Innocence to the News Review Shortly After
He Was Arrested.

Shortly after Smith had been released
on bail he called at the office of the NEWS REVIEW and made a clear statement saying that he could prove he was
not guilty of the charge and that it was a case of blackmail. He asked that the paper withhold comment on the case
until the trial and if he was proved guilty to give him hades. Officers are now seeking to give him the object of his desire. Smith stated that if he was guilty of the charge no sentence could
be too heavy for him.

DEWEY HAD WITH THE DON'S

In Manila Bay a Year Ago Last May—Murray S. Holloway, Chief of Machinists on the Commodore's Flagship, Visits This City and Talks Most Interestingly.

M. S. Holloway, late chief of machinists on the famous Olympia, Dewey's flag ship, paid the NEWS REVIEW office a visit yesterday afternoon and entertained the management with an intensely realistic account of the entrance of the American fleet to the Manila harbor and the contest which afterward occurred. His account of the later capture of the gunboat Callaoa was listened to with deep interest.

This small Spanish gunboat had been cruising for some twelve months previous amid the islands under Spanish control and dominion, and the captain steamed into Manila harbor, unaware of the fact that war had been declared between Spain and the United States. As is customary in the navy, he signaled for the Spanish admiral's permission to anchor, thinking the American vessels were in the harbor on a visit. Dewey gave command that a shot should be fired across the newcomer's bow, as

A Signal to "Heave To."

This was done, but no attention was paid to it. "A little closer," said Dewey, and another shot met with the same result. "Hit her," said Dewey to the gunner in command of the piece, and a portion of the rigging dropped into the waters of the bay as the expert sent the heavy missile home. Up went the white flag and down came the Spanish colors, and soon afterward the captain, a brave and gallant sailor, stood on the deck of the Olympia, asking an explanation and asking where the Spanish commander and fleet were. He was given the desired information and shown the wrecks of the late handsome war vessels. He tendered his sword, which was not taken from him; and then utterly and cried like a child, hardly able to realize the great misfortune which had overtaken his commander and comrades. Holloway states that it was indeed a very sad sight, and words of sympathy and good feeling greeted the stranger on every hand.

The Gallant Sailor Broke Down

Mr. Holloway is a cousin of W. S. Holloway, now a resident of Wellsville, and connected with the new local telephone company.

Murray S. Holloway has been in the U. S. navy between six and seven years, and has been with the Olympia between four and five years. He reached San Francisco in the month of April last, and has retired from the service. He spoke in warm terms of praise of Admiral Dewey, his officers and men, and states that the life of a sailor in the U. S. navy is far preferable to that of a soldier in the regular army. He states that of the Tenth Pennsylvania infantry on the night of July 31, 1898, and tells how the great search lights of the Olympia flashed over the Spanish entrenchments, hoping to give our artillerymen and soldiers a better chance of reaching the enemy. He also tells of noting, from the deck of the Olympia, the colors of the Tenth as the regiment marched up the beach on the morning of August 13; the halt in the waters of the bay, under the protection of the garden walls, and of

Of the Columbiana County Bar Pay Eloquent Tribute

TO MEMORY OF JUDGE P. C. YOUNG

A Memorial Minute Adopted by the Association--Funeral Services Today--Body Lying In State at the County Seat, Viewed by Hundreds.

LISBON, July 28.—[Special]—At a meeting of the Columbiana county bar held in common pleas court room today, of which Judge P. M. Smith was president, a committee appointed at a previous meeting, consisting of Messrs. N. B. Billingsley, John W. Morrison, W. G. Wells, J. G. Moore and J. C. Boone, reported a memorial minute in honor of the late P. C. Young.

Having briefly recited the story of the brilliant and honorable career of the deceased, the memorial continues:

"As a soldier he was brave and patient, patriotically and cheerfully enduring all the privations, suffering and danger of camp and field. As a judge he presided with marked ability, heard courteously, considered soberly and decided impartially. As a lawyer he was a leading member of the bar, true to his clients; eloquent and courageous, he was tactful and skillful in the trial of cases. Candid and dignified in his relations with his clients, his professional brethren and the court—the soul of honor. As a citizen his ideal was exalted and he was always in the front rank of those who worked for the good of society. His goodness of heart and sympathetic nature created a fellowship with all who knew him—to know him was to love him."

Appropriate addresses were delivered by Judge Smith, Judge Billingsley, J. A. Martin, Judge Moore, Judge Boone, Hon. R. W. Tayler, Judge Wells and Attorney D. W. Harris, of Alliance.

The body lay in state at the Methodist church from 12 o'clock and was viewed by a large concourse of people. The bar and civic organizations attended in a body. After the sermon by Reverend Fisher, Congressman Tayler delivered a eulogy on the deceased.

Deep Sea Fish Die "Falling Upward."

The officers of the cable steamer Minia of Philadelphia, which is now endeavoring in mid-ocean to locate and repair a broken cable 1,500 feet below the surface of the water, state that their instruments show the bottom of the ocean to have a temperature below the freezing point and that there is a total absence of light, says the Philadelphia Record. At this depth the pressure is estimated at about a ton to the square inch in every 1,000 fathoms. The officers say that a great many of the deep sea fish are so peculiarly constructed that they often lose their lives by chasing the instruments toward the surface. They die by what experts call "falling upward." As soon as they get out of their accustomed level the decreased pressure extends the air within them, and the fish shoot to the surface, but are dead before they reach that point.

Negro's Head Immune From Lightning.

The lightning played some queer pranks at Mr. Lal Penick's home in Madison, Ga., the other afternoon. Mrs. Penick and two colored boys were in the storeroom when a bolt of lightning came down the stovepipe, knocked down one of the negroes and killed a cat directly under the house, says the Madison (Ga.) Madonian. The negro soon recovered, but the cat was burned in streaks to death instantly. There seemed to be a special providence over the negro, else it must have struck his head.

It is easy of cultivation and is a handsome fruit.

Congressman R. W. Tayler, of Columbiana county, will be a candidate for a fourth term re-election, says the Youngstown Telegram.

This statement was made by Edward King, secretary of committee of elections No 1 of which Congressman Tayler is chairman, and who is the congressman's political manager in this district. He added that the Republicans would have the usual majority in his county.

Mahoning Republicans, says the Telegram, are unanimous in the belief that it is that county's turn to have the congressional nominee, and will undoubtedly present the name of one or more candidates for the nomination.

HE WAS ON THE OLYMPIA

And Was In the Nice Little Engagement

DEWEY HAD WITH THE DON'S

In Manila Bay a Year Ago Last May—Murray S. Holloway, Chief of Machinists on the Commodore's Flagship, Visits This City and Talks Most Interestingly.

M. S. Holloway, late chief of machinists on the famous Olympia, Dewey's flag ship, paid the NEWS REVIEW office a visit yesterday afternoon and entertained the management with an intensely realistic account of the entrance of the American fleet to the Manila harbor and the contest which afterward occurred. His account of the later capture of the gunboat Callao was listened to with deep interest.

This small Spanish gunboat had been cruising for some twelve months previous amid the islands under Spanish control and dominion, and the captain steamed into Manila harbor, unaware of the fact that war had been declared between Spain and the United States. As is customary in the navy, he signalled for the Spanish admiral's permission to anchor, thinking the American vessels were in the harbor on a visit. Dewey gave command that a shot should be fired across the newcomer's bow, as

This was done, but no attention was paid to it. "A little closer," said Dewey, and another shot met with the same result. "Hit her," said Dewey to the gunner in command of the piece, and a portion of the rigging dropped into the waters of the bay as the expert sent the heavy missile home. Up went the white flag and down came the Spanish colors, and soon afterward the captain, a brave and gallant sailor, stood on the deck of the Olympia, asking an explanation and asking where the Spanish commander and fleet were. He was given the desired information and shown the wrecks of the late handsome war vessels. He tendered his sword, which was not taken from him; and then utterly and cried like a child, hardly able to realize the great misfortune which had overtaken his commander and comrades. Holloway states that it was indeed a very sad sight, and words of sympathy and good feeling greeted the stranger on every hand.

Mr. Holloway is a cousin of W. S. Holloway, now a resident of Wellsville, and connected with the new local telephone company.

Murray S. Holloway has been in the U. S. navy between six and seven years, and has been with the Olympia between four and five years. He reached San Francisco in the month of April last, and has retired from the service. He spoke in warm terms of praise of Admiral Dewey, his officers and men, and states that the life of a sailor in the U. S. navy is far preferable to that of a soldier in the regular army. He states that of the Tenth Pennsylvania infantry on the night of July 31, 1898, and tells how the great search lights of the Olympia flashed over the Spanish entrenchments, hoping to give our artillerymen and soldiers a better chance of reaching the enemy. He also tells of noting, from the deck of the Olympia, the colors of the Tenth as the regiment marched up the beach on the morning of August 13; the halt in the waters of the bay, under the protection of the garden walls, and of

TO MEMORY OF JUDGE P. C. YOUNG

A Memorial Minute Adopted by the Association--Funeral Services Today--Body Lying In State at the County Seat, Viewed by Hundreds.

LISBON, July 28.—[Special]—At a meeting of the Columbiana county bar held in common pleas court room today, of which Judge P. M. Smith was president, a committee appointed at a previous meeting, consisting of Messrs. N. B. Billingsley, John W. Morrison, W. G. Wells, J. G. Moore and J. C. Boone, reported a memorial minute in honor of the late P. C. Young.

Having briefly recited the story of the brilliant and honorable career of the deceased, the memorial continues:

"As a soldier he was brave and patient, patriotically and cheerfully enduring all the privations, suffering and danger of camp and field. As a judge he presided with marked ability, heard courteously, considered soberly and decided impartially. As a lawyer he was a leading member of the bar, true to his clients; eloquent and courageous, he was tactful and skillful in the trial of cases. Candid and dignified in his relations with his clients, his professional brethren and the court—the soul of honor. As a citizen his ideal was exalted and he was always in the front rank of those who worked for the good of society. His goodness of heart and sympathetic nature created a fellowship with all who knew him—to know him was to love him."

Appropriate addresses were delivered by Judge Smith, Judge Billingsley, J. A. Martin, Judge Moore, Judge Boone, Hon. R. W. Tayler, Judge Wells and Attorney D. W. Harris, of Alliance.

The body lay in state at the Methodist church from 12 o'clock and was viewed by a large concourse of people. The bar and civic organizations attended in a body. After the sermon by Reverend Fisher, Congressman Tayler delivered an eulogy on the deceased.

Deep Sea Fish Die "Falling Upward."

The officers of the cable steamer Minia of Philadelphia, which is now endeavoring in midocean to locate and repair a broken cable 1,500 feet below the surface of the water, state that their instruments show the bottom of the ocean to have a temperature below the freezing point and that there is a total absence of light, says the Philadelphia Record. At this depth the pressure is estimated at about a ton to the square inch in every 1,000 fathoms. The officers say that a great many of the deep sea fish are so peculiarly constructed that they often lose their lives by chasing the instruments toward the surface. They die by what experts call "falling upward." As soon as they get out of their accustomed level the decreased pressure extends the air within them, and the fish shoot to the surface, but are dead before they reach that point.

BULLS HITCHED TO GUNS

Unique but Effective Use of Philippine Cattle.

BATTERY PRACTICE AT ILOILO.

Major Sternberg Writes About Some Things Which Strike an American Observer in Our Colonies—Adaptation of the Panayan Character. Panay's Glorious Climate.

Major Theodore Sternberg, paymaster and treasurer at Iloilo, writes to his brother, Surgeon General Sternberg, regarding the conditions of that part of the Philippines as follows, says the Washington Post:

"I send you a photograph of a section of Captain Bridgeman's battery, Sixth artillery, now stationed at Iloilo. The horsing of this battery with native bulls is the most unique and picturesque thing in the army. Don't for a moment think these bulls and their capacity for traveling are to be compared with an ox team on the plains in the early days you and I so well remember. These are trotting bulls. The other day the battery was yoked up and was in battery three miles away in 25 minutes. The men in the battery are very proud of their bull teams and carefully groom them. The other day I saw one of the men mounted on a bull, artillery saddle, herding the bunch. One tried to break the herd, and the mounted bull jumped ditches, outran the other and in all things comported himself as well as any herd pony could do.

"I have now been in these islands nearly eight months, and up to date I have seen more delightful weather than I ever saw before in any country in the same time. When I think of the beautiful homes at Los Angeles and at Pasadena, Cal., with their subtropical vegetation, I cannot help thinking that when the same kind of men take hold of these islands they will be the most delightful spots in the world.

"I always suffered from catarrh in the States. Now I would not know I had a nose if the city was thoroughly policed. I look forward to the time when there shall be American homes, American families and American schools here. I want to see American ideas grafted on to this native stock, and I believe the graft will grow and bear fruit. Catch these natives young, and they can be made, the rank and file of them, useful citizens, but what can you expect when labor is not considered honorable, when the foreigner would not get up to help himself to a cigar on a table in the same room, but will call for a servant to get it for him? I am proud of the fact that in America Lincoln stands for honest labor and its just reward. We must show these people by object lessons the honor which is in honest labor, the delights of American home life on the farm and the dignity of owning your own farm and living on it.

"I have met many inquiries as to when are the Americans going to establish schools. These people are anxious to learn and want schools, and after the fighting is over nothing our people can do would meet a quicker or more grateful response than free schools. I fully believe that the rate of wages paid is the real criterion by which to judge of the condition of a people. Not far from Iloilo is a plantation—sugar. The owner, a foreigner, paid $4 Mexican, or $2 United States, a month for his laborers. Just think of it—$2 per month for a man! The man who wishes labor at such a price is the kind who believes in colonial government for these islands. I want these people taught to earn and get decent wages, and that is the bottom of this whole question for the future, and the elevation of labor here is the our we must use. That done in these islands will make it easier to benefit the people of the entire orient.

"It makes me tired to read the speeches and newspaper articles against American occupation of these islands. The 1st of May is the Fourth of July of the future of these people. The American Indian melted away because he could not and would not live the settled and laborious life of civilization. These people here will, I fully believe. These peasantry quickly catch on if shown, and will soon use American plows, put on shoes and stockings, go to school, get up caucuses, nominate tickets, vote and hunt for office as readily as our Americans do at home. Those who have had an opportunity for education are as highly cultivated as any one, but continental rather than English. A man is a creature of environment anyway.

"One of the funniest things illustrative of this I noticed the other day. I was introduced to a Chinese mestizo, who talks English with the most pronounced cockney accent. His b's are used or not used, and all the other peculiarities of the cockney just as if he were born in sound of Bow Bells. More than that, he thinks in English, calls himself a Britisher and talks of his queen and our navy, and yet he never saw England—a product of Hongkong. America must create the environment, and time will do the rest. It is because I think I know and realize the philosophy of American ideas, the part these ideas play now and are intended to play in the future of the world, that I so wish to see every one of our glorious soldiers who wishes it enabled to remain here and each become a center of American thought."

TRAINING DIVERS FOR NAVY.

Special Class of Instruction to Be Formed at Newport.

A special class will be formed at the naval training station at Newport for the instruction of men to become divers in the navy. Every warship in our navy has from one to four men on board who are capable of donning the heavy rubber suit of a diver, disappearing below the water and cutting a hawser from the blades of the propeller or clearing away any obstruction that may become entangled in the propelling gear. For this delicate duty men are selected with special regard to their fitness, care being observed that those put into the class are of robust physique, perfect health, with steady nerve and cool head.

The names of these men do not appear in the naval register, they being rated as gunners' mates. One of the officers who have served at the training station where men are being drilled to become divers said recently in speaking of this matter: "One of the main requirements for a man who wishes to be a diver in the navy is a good nerve and the ability to keep from getting rattled. Many disasters have resulted simply because men have become rattled while under water. It is nothing unusual for a candidate to be brought up unconscious after a trial, with blood issuing from his mouth and nose as the result of a hemorrhage.

"The momentary relaxation of a man's nerves is apt to bring on an attack of this sort, while all the experts declare that if a diver keeps cool and preserves his wits he will come out all right. Before men are admitted to this class they are put through the severest sort of a physical examination."—Baltimore Sun.

ONE OF CERVERA'S GUNS.

Description of Relic to Be Placed in Brooklyn's Union League Club.

The 1 pounder breechloading rapid fire gun which Rear Admiral Schley is going to present to the Union League club of Brooklyn will rest in the clubhouse on the same pedestal which supported it on Admiral Cervera's flagship during the battle off Santiago. The gun is in perfect working order and still carries its bullet scarred shield. It weighs about 250 pounds.

After the Vizcaya was disabled Rear Admiral J. W. Philip, at that time in command of the Texas, but at present commandant of the Brooklyn navy yard, with several other officers, visited the wrecked vessels and among other things secured this gun. It was placed on board the Texas, where a Krag-Jorgensen rifle was fired point blank at the shield at a distance of 20 feet. The bullet penetrated the three-quarter inch shell plate as though it had been so much paper, making a hole about half an inch in diameter, says the New York Sun.

The gun was transferred to the cruiser Brooklyn, Schley's flagship, where it was when the Brooklyn was sent recently to the Brooklyn yard. Captain Jewell of the Brooklyn had it sent to Admiral Philip's office, where it was cleaned up. It will be turned over to the Union League club within a few weeks. The gun will be polished and bronzed, while the carriage is to be handsomely painted before being presented to the club. The shield, which is semicircular, is about 2 by 4 feet in size, and on this will be placed the inscription. The club will make room for the gun in the center of its big reading room.

ITO BRING TREES AND ALL.

How an Orange Grower Intends to Sell His Fruit in the North.

"I am just now hard at work," said a New Orleans promoter, "on one of the biggest, brightest and most spectacular enterprises of the present day. It originates with an extensive orange grower of the lower coast. He suffered severely by the freeze of last season, but he is a man of unlimited resources, and he has thought up a scheme to wrest the spoils of winter from the clutch of nature. No, that isn't a quotation from the prospectus; it's a simple, modest statement of fact. His proposition is to take a number of bearing orange trees and transplant them in cars especially prepared for their reception, making up special trains of, say 20 cars apiece, which, averaging six trees each, to give them plenty of room, will make 120 trees to the train.

While history does not record a succession of such severe winters as the last, still, to be absolutely on the safe side, the intention is to keep the cars moving Floridaward, to the extreme southern point, and by staying always in the warm zone positively insure the life and productiveness of the plant. Trees thus treated yield double the usual quantity. But that is not all. As soon as the crop has reached maturity the trains will be run north and the fruit sold direct from the trees."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

SALT RESTORES A FLY'S LIFE

Omaha Woman Tests the Discovery Made by an Englishman.

Mrs. Hattie L. Hawver of Omaha, according to the Chicago Record, has just proved the efficacy of salt in restoring life to insects which had presumably become inanimate from drowning. Concerning the experiment made Mrs. Hawver said:

"After reading the account of the discovery of the young English mechanic Mansfield, in which it was alleged that insects and animals apparently dead from drowning had been resuscitated by the application of salt, I gave the experiment a trial. I captured a common house fly and held it under the water until all signs of life were gone. When I went to remove it, it was at the bottom of the bowl. I laid it on a cloth and sprinkled a liberal supply of salt over it. It did not creep out and fly off in 'two minutes,' and when nearly half an hour had passed without result I was almost ready to call the 'great discovery' a great fake. A few minutes later, however, my fly began to kick and then walked away."

Mrs. Hawver suggests that salt might prove a valuable remedy in the treatment of dropsy by the application of dry salt baths. Regarding this theory a member of the Creighton Medical college faculty expressed a doubt that salt would have any effect in the treatment of dropsy.

FINE JOB WORK. The NEWS REVIEW job rooms are the best equipped in eastern Ohio, and we are consequently able to turn out large quantities of work on short notice.

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours and union labor employed.

BULLS HITCHED TO GUNS

Unique but Effective Use of Philippine Cattle.

BATTERY PRACTICE AT ILOILO.

Major Sternberg Writes About Some Things Which Strike an American Observer in Our Colonies—Adaptation of the Panay Character. Panay's Glorious Climate.

Major Theodore Sternberg, paymaster and treasurer at Iloilo, writes to his brother, Surgeon General Sternberg, regarding the conditions of that part of the Philippines as follows, says the Washington Post:

"I send you a photograph of a section of Captain Bridgeman's battery, Sixth artillery, now stationed at Iloilo. The horsing of this battery with native bulls is the most unique and picturesque thing in the army. Don't for a moment think these bulls and their capacity for traveling are to be compared with an ox team on the plains in the early days you and I so well remember. These are trotting bulls. The other day the battery was yoked up and was in battery three miles away in 25 minutes. The men in the battery are very proud of their bull teams and carefully groom them. The other day I saw one of the men mounted on a bull, artillery saddle, herding the bunch. One tried to break the herd, and the mounted bull jumped ditches, outran the other and in all things comported himself as well as any herd pony could do.

"I have now been in these islands nearly eight months, and up to date I have seen more delightful weather than I ever saw before in any country in the same time. When I think of the beautiful homes at Los Angeles and at Pasadena, Cal., with their subtropical vegetation, I cannot help thinking that when the same kind of men take hold of these islands they will be the most delightful spots in the world.

"I always suffered from catarrh in the States. Now I would not know I had a nose if the city was thoroughly policed. I look forward to the time when there shall be American homes, American families and American schools here. I want to see American ideas grafted on to this native stock, and I believe the graft will grow and bear fruit. Catch these natives young, and they can be made, the rank and file of them, useful citizens, but what can you expect when labor is not considered honorable, when the foreigner would not get up to help himself to a cigar on a table in the same room, but will call for a servant to get it for him? I am proud of the fact that in America Lincoln stands for honest labor and its just reward. We must show these people by object lessons the honor which is in honest labor, the delights of American home life on the farm and the dignity of owning your own farm and living on it.

"I have met many inquiries as to when are the Americans going to establish schools. These people are anxious to learn and want schools, and after the fighting is over nothing our people can do would meet a quicker or more grateful response than free schools. I fully believe that the rate of wages paid is the real criterion by which to judge of the condition of a people. Not far from Iloilo is a plantation—sugar. The owner, a foreigner, paid $4 Mexican, or $2 United States, a month for his laborers. Just think of it—$2 per month for a man! The man who wishes labor at such a price is the kind who believes in colonial government for these islands. I want these people taught to earn and get decent wages, and that is the bottom of this whole question for the future, and the elevation of labor here is the one we must use. That done in these islands will make it easier to benefit the people of the entire orient.

"It makes me tired to read the speeches and newspaper articles against American occupation of these islands. The 1st of May is the Fourth of July of the future of these people. The American Indian melted away because he could not and would not live the settled and laborious life of civilization. These people here will, I fully believe. These peasantry quickly catch on if shown, and will soon use American plows, put on shoes and stockings, go to school, get up caucuses, nominate tickets, vote and hunt for office as readily as our Americans do at home. Those who have had an opportunity for education are as highly cultivated as any one, but continental rather than English. A man is a creature of environment anyway.

"One of the funniest things illustrative of this I noticed the other day. I was introduced to a Chinese mestizo, who talks English with the most pronounced cockney accent. His h's are used or not used, and all the other peculiarities of the cockney just as if he were born in sound of Bow Bells. More than that, he thinks in English, calls himself a Britisher and talks of his queen and our navy, and yet he never saw England—a product of Hongkong. America must create the environment, and time will do the rest. It is because I think I know and realize the philosophy of American ideas, the part these ideas play now and are intended to play in the future of the world, that I so wish to see every one of our glorious soldiers who wishes it enabled to remain here and each become a center of American thought."

TRAINING DIVERS FOR NAVY.

Special Class of Instruction to Be Formed at Newport.

A special class will be formed at the naval training station at Newport for the instruction of men to become divers in the navy. Every warship in our navy has from one to four men on board who are capable of donning the heavy rubber suit of a diver, disappearing below the water and cutting a hawser from the blades of the propeller or clearing away any obstruction that may become entangled in the propelling gear. For this delicate duty men are selected with special regard to their fitness, care being observed that those put into the class are of robust physique, perfect health, with steady nerve and cool head.

The names of these men do not appear in the naval register, they being rated as gunners' mates. One of the officers who have served at the training station where men are being drilled to become divers said recently in speaking of this matter: "One of the main requirements for a man who wishes to be a diver in the navy is a good nerve and the ability to keep from getting rattled. Many disasters have resulted simply because men have become rattled while under water. It is nothing unusual for a candidate to be brought up unconscious after a trial, with blood issuing from his mouth and nose as the result of a hemorrhage.

"The momentary relaxation of a man's nerves is apt to bring on an attack of this sort, while all the experts declare that if a diver keeps cool and preserves his wits he will come out all right. Before men are admitted to this class they are put through the severest sort of a physical examination."—Baltimore Sun.

ONE OF CERVERA'S GUNS.

Description of Relic to Be Placed in Brooklyn's Union League Club.

The 1 pounder breechloading rapid fire gun which Rear Admiral Schley is going to present to the Union League club of Brooklyn will rest in the clubhouse on the same pedestal which supported it on Admiral Cervera's flagship during the battle off Santiago. The gun is in perfect working order and still carries its bullet scarred shield. It weighs about 250 pounds.

After the Vizcaya was disabled Rear Admiral J. W. Philip, at that time in command of the Texas, but at present commandant of the Brooklyn navy yard, with several other officers, visited the wrecked vessels and among other things secured this gun. It was placed on board the Texas, where a Krag-Jorgensen rifle was fired point blank at the shield at a distance of 20 feet. The bullet penetrated the three-quarter inch shell plate as though it had been so much paper, making a hole about half an inch in diameter, says the New York Sun.

The gun was transferred to the cruiser Brooklyn, Schley's flagship, where it was when the Brooklyn was sent recently to the Brooklyn yard. Captain Jewell of the Brooklyn had it sent to Admiral Philip's office, where it was cleaned up. It will be turned over to the Union League club within a few weeks. The gun will be polished and bronzed, while the carriage is to be handsomely painted before being presented to the club. The shield, which is semicircular, is about 2 by 4 feet in size, and on this will be placed the inscription. The club will make room for the gun in the center of its big reading room.

A Georgia Bill of Fare.

"You don't intend to eat him, do you?" he was asked.

"Pretty tough—isn't it?"

"Yes suh, he's tough, ez you say, but w'en you salts en peppers 'im, en suns 'im, he's fillin, suh—he's fillin!"—Atlanta Constitution.

J. Fresh—I did it to steer clear of a libel suit. You know you told me always to say "alleged thief," "alleged murderer" and that sort of thing.—Boston Transcript.

And Then Eat Him Up.

One day Tommy accompanied his mother on a shopping expedition, and, seeing a large candy man in a confectioner's window, he paused in front of it with a wistful look; then, turning away, regretfully, he said, "Mamma, I could lick that fellow with both hands tied behind me."—Troy Times.

ITO BRING TREES AND ALL.

How an Orange Grower Intends to Sell His Fruit in the North.

"I am just now hard at work," said a New Orleans promoter, "on one of the biggest, brightest and most spectacular enterprises of the present day. It originates with an extensive orange grower of the lower coast. He suffered severely by the freeze of last season, but he is a man of unlimited resources, and he has thought up a scheme to wrest the spoils of winter from the clutch of nature. No, that isn't a quotation from the prospectus; it's a simple, modest statement of fact. His proposition is to take a number of bearing orange trees and transplant them in cars especially prepared for their reception, making up special trains of, say 20 cars apiece, which, averaging six trees each, to give them plenty of room, will make 120 trees to the train.

While history does not record a succession of such severe winters as the last, still, to be absolutely on the safe side, the intention is to keep the cars moving Floridaward, to the extreme southern point, and by staying always in the warm zone positively insure the life and productiveness of the plant. Trees thus treated yield double the usual quantity. But that is not all. As soon as the crop has reached maturity the trains will be run north and the fruit sold direct from the trees."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

SALT RESTORES A FLY'S LIFE

Omaha Woman Tests the Discovery Made by an Englishman.

Mrs. Hattie L. Hawver of Omaha, according to the Chicago Record, has just proved the efficacy of salt in restoring life to insects which had presumably become inanimate from drowning. Concerning the experiment made Mrs. Hawver said:

"After reading the account of the discovery of the young English mechanic Mansfield, in which it was alleged that insects and animals apparently dead from drowning had been resuscitated by the application of salt, I gave the experiment a trial. I captured a common house fly and held it under the water until all signs of life were gone. When I went to remove it, it was at the bottom of the bowl. I laid it on a cloth and sprinkled a liberal supply of salt over it. It did not creep out and fly off in 'two minutes,' and when nearly half an hour had passed without result I was almost ready to call the 'great discovery' a great fake. A few minutes later, however, my fly began to kick and then walked away."

Mrs. Hawver suggests that salt might prove a valuable remedy in the treatment of dropsy by the application of dry salt baths. Regarding this theory a member of the Creighton Medical college faculty expressed a doubt that salt would have any effect in the treatment of dropsy.

The bullet penetrated the three-quarter inch shell plate as though it had been so much paper, making a hole about half an inch in diameter, says the New York Sun.

The gun was transferred to the cruiser Brooklyn, Schley's flagship, where it was when the Brooklyn was sent recently to the Brooklyn yard. Captain Jewell of the Brooklyn had it sent to Admiral Philip's office, where it was cleaned up. It will be turned over to the Union League club within a few weeks. The gun will be polished and bronzed, while the carriage is to be handsomely painted before being presented to the club. The shield, which is semicircular, is about 2 by 4 feet in size, and on this will be placed the inscription. The club will make room for the gun in the center of its big reading room.

ITO BRING TREES AND ALL.

How an Orange Grower Intends to Sell His Fruit in the North.

"I am just now hard at work," said a New Orleans promoter, "on one of the biggest, brightest and most spectacular enterprises of the present day. It originates with an extensive orange grower of the lower coast. He suffered severely by the freeze of last season, but he is a man of unlimited resources, and he has thought up a scheme to wrest the spoils of winter from the clutch of nature. No, that isn't a quotation from the prospectus; it's a simple, modest statement of fact. His proposition is to take a number of bearing orange trees and transplant them in cars especially prepared for their reception, making up special trains of, say 20 cars apiece, which, averaging six trees each, to give them plenty of room, will make 120 trees to the train.

While history does not record a succession of such severe winters as the last, still, to be absolutely on the safe side, the intention is to keep the cars moving Floridaward, to the extreme southern point, and by staying always in the warm zone positively insure the life and productiveness of the plant. Trees thus treated yield double the usual quantity. But that is not all. As soon as the crop has reached maturity the trains will be run north and the fruit sold direct from the trees."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

SALT RESTORES A FLY'S LIFE

Omaha Woman Tests the Discovery Made by an Englishman.

Mrs. Hattie L. Hawver of Omaha, according to the Chicago Record, has just proved the efficacy of salt in restoring life to insects which had presumably become inanimate from drowning. Concerning the experiment made Mrs. Hawver said:

"After reading the account of the discovery of the young English mechanic Mansfield, in which it was alleged that insects and animals apparently dead from drowning had been resuscitated by the application of salt, I gave the experiment a trial. I captured a common house fly and held it under the water until all signs of life were gone. When I went to remove it, it was at the bottom of the bowl. I laid it on a cloth and sprinkled a liberal supply of salt over it. It did not creep out and fly off in 'two minutes,' and when nearly half an hour had passed without result I was almost ready to call the 'great discovery' a great fake. A few minutes later, however, my fly began to kick and then walked away."

Mrs. Hawver suggests that salt might prove a valuable remedy in the treatment of dropsy by the application of dry salt baths. Regarding this theory a member of the Creighton Medical college faculty expressed a doubt that salt would have any effect in the treatment of dropsy.

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours and union labor employed.

UNION PAPERS.

All Union papers of East Liverpool are known to the various craft and unions of the city by the printing of the above Union Labels at the head of their columns.

LETTER FROM MANILA.

Soldiers' Trials During Wet Season In the Philippines.

SUNDAY IS THEIR WASH DAY.

The Perils From Fever and Treacherous Filipinos—Capture of an Insurgent Spy—How Our Wounded and Dead Are Stripped—An Agreement to Prevent Disturbances.

William R. Walters, special correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, writing from Manila under date of June 1 about the rainy season, says:

Here in the Philippines Sunday is always wash day among our soldier boys. The only exception to this general rule is when there is trouble on hand and the American troops are too busy upholding the bills of Luzon with dead Filipinos to stop and wield the soap bar and washboard. But when things are quiet around camp you can always see hundreds of soldiers of a Sunday morning, stripped to the waist and making the soapsuds fly like a Montana snowstorm. This is the only chance the boys have of freshening their soiled and grimy linen.

As for water, heaven knows there's enough of it! There's water everywhere. Blankets are soaked with it. Bread is soggy with it. Leather boots are moldy and clothes are perpetually steaming with it. If you don't watch out, your rifle will rust with it, and you will wish in the depths of your aqueous soul that you were born a duck, for this is what is known as the "rainy season" in the Philippine Islands.

Ricefields that three months ago looked as green and gently undulating as Indiana farm land are now a desolate stretch of water swept bog, marsh, swamp, anything that suggests the superlative of terrestrial ooze. Through this our boys have to plow their weary way time and time again. When tired of the bog, they are given a little taste of the bush, where they push their way through underbrush reeking with the too generous rains of heaven. Traveling by road they sink up to their boot tops in black mud. From showering down until drizzling dusk they are rained upon from above, and when the clouds let up there are always a few Filipinos somewhere about to provide a leaden substitute. The trenches are filled with water and converted into miniature canals, up and down which you could all but ferry an Erie canalboat. Insignificant little streams, once no more than ankle deep, now hem us in with six or ten good feet of mud laden, raging water.

But this is not the saddest part of the story. When the rainy season comes to these islands, it brings with it a foe that stout hearts and good steel and all the gunpowder in Manila cannot withstand. This foe makes his presence felt first by a feeling of depression and uneasiness, then a stiffness, then a chill that shakes the victim till his teeth chatter and then a raging fever that puts him on his back, babbling deliriously of his home and his sweetheart and at the end, as a rule, of his mother. It is a terrible thing to see big, stalwart, careless men stricken down in this mysterious and deadly way, and it makes you think over all the little things you have done in the past and the things left undone and starts you wondering just when your own time is going to come. The haunting fear of it takes the spirit out of men who would laugh in the face of 40 armed Filipinos. It is a microbe guarded ambuscade that no scouting party can ever foretell.

When it is not fever, it is dysentery, and three days of it is often enough for the stoutest and strongest man. It seizes him in an hour, and, though he is hurried off to the hospital, he seems to melt away like April snow in Kentucky, and before word has got around camp that he is down a burial squad is ordered out, and his last bed is made in four feet of Philippine mud.

The officers of the different regiments here are, of course, doing their utmost to fight off the fevers and keep the camps in a sanitary condition and look after the welfare of the boys, but the brainiest and bravest officer who ever came out of West Point is not worth much when it comes to fighting atmosphere. Gunpowder isn't going to clear away the miasma laden air that broods over the damp woods and valleys of these islands during the rainy season, and the officers themselves feel their helplessness. So it is only a matter of looking for the highest and driest quarters, retiring closer up on Manila, as we have done, swallowing tons and tons, then more tons, of quinine, until the very taste of it haunts your nightmarish dreams and praying to God that you may last out the rainy season and live to plant Old Glory on the remotest mountain top in all the Philippine archipelago for all time.

Over this forlorn and picturesque and tumble down old city of Manila the stars and stripes are waving as I write this, but just at present among the war worn boys who are patrolling its ancient streets and its gray old fortresses there is a sort of temporary feeling of hopelessness. Not that they have by any means given up, but between now and next October, it is well known, little can actually be done toward finally rounding up "Aggie" and bringing this undesirable war to a close. The shipload of leaden caskets which has just arrived here to carry home the American dead has not exactly brightened up things about camp, for one can't help speculating whether he'll go home inside or outside one of these lead boxes.

Word is going about here that reinforcements are on their way to Manila at the present time and that we are to have an addition of some long needed cavalry, besides some American negro troops. But the officers are very reticent about discussing such things before the men, and consequently we are pretty well kept guessing. So in the meantime, during the period of enforced inactivity, when we have more time to think about our little grievances, there is a general feeling of depression hanging over this place. I suppose this is mostly due to the climate, for when one is inhaling mucky, humid, fever germed and debilitating air, such as you get when the rains are on here, he is not likely to feel especially chirpy and chipper. When the occasional chance does come for a brush with the enemy, however, our boys soon forget their little discomforts and show spirit enough in wading after a bunch of insurrectos through half flooded rice fields.

Some of the pious and meek looking Filipinos who come about our camp are prodigiously eloquent in their protestations of friendship to the Americans. Not long ago a handful of our men got hold of one of these amigos who was suspiciously military looking in his bearing. He was ostensibly carrying baskets of rice into camp, but seemed to look about him and size up the situation altogether too inquisitively. Quick as a flash three or four of our men nabbed him. One of them tore his gingham shirt from his shoulders, and there, plain as day, was the telltale sign of his treachery. The hollow of his right shoulder was black and blue. Now, there is only one thing that causes that peculiar marking of the shoulder front, and it is the repeated kicking of a rifle butt against it. In other words, here was a man who had probably but a few days before been actually raining hostile bullets among our men now calmly meandering through an American camp and spying upon us. The orders respecting the treatment of friendlies by our men are very strict; otherwise there would have been one lynched insurrecto that day.

In their ways of fighting the Filipinos are more like the old Apaches of Arizona than anything I can think of in this connection. They never stand up and meet us squarely face to face. They fire, retreat and melt away, crawling back through underbrush to fire again and still once more decamp. In many of their strategic movements, in fact, they are even more unscrupulous than the red man. It is such things as these that have hardened the heart of the American soldier against the native. The mutilation of the dead by these barbarous Asiatics is a subject upon which I do not care to speak. It is not so often practiced as you may have been led to believe, but when it has occurred it has been of such a revolting character that words do not fitly describe the frenzy of mad rage and passion for revenge which it excites in our boys, especially when the remains have been recognized as those of some old friend or camp comrade.

It is the usual thing for an American soldier when shot down and left for even the shortest space of time on the field to be found stripped from head to heels. His arms and shoes are always taken first, and when there is a chance clothing is carried away as well. I know of the case of one private who was shot through the neck and fell. He was overlooked in the excitement, and when, three hours later, he was found by the Red Cross people he lay on the ground as naked as the day he was born. The Filipinos, it seems, had sneaked out and, finding him unconscious from his wound, straightway fell to stripping him. Thinking presumably that the wounded private was already dead, they did not take the trouble to dispatch him. The strange part of the affair was that the wound of the private in question was merely superficial, and in a day or two he was about again, but not before he had secured a new uniform of a blue flannel shirt and an old pair of duck trousers.

It is amusing to watch the grim smile with which the older veterans after their many months of active Filipino hunting greet the newly arrived reinforcements which are continually disembarking and light heartedly taking up quarters here. It is useless to deny that the volunteers are homesick and want to get back to the land of the free once more, though, of course, they say little about such things as home about camp. It creates disturbances. In our quarters we have an agreement whereby the first man who begins talking of home shall be stripped of his rubber blanket and turned out naked into the night, for if there is one thing on earth that is disquieting and unsettling it is to hear some homesick boy wondering if the big, yellow harvest apples down on the old farm are ripe yet or some hairy and sunburned son of New York sadly speculating if she is spending her summer at Newport or at Saratoga.

Mrs. McKinley remained in her apartments resting and enjoying the beautiful view of lake and mountain scenery.

The president received official notice of the death of President Heurax of the republic of Santo Domingo. He immediately dictated and sent a dispatch of condolence.

Attorney General Griggs and family engaged one of the cottages connected with the hotel and will arrive here likely Aug. 15 for a stay of several weeks.

The regular weekly hop was held in the hotel parlor last night, but the president and Mrs. McKinley did not attend, retiring early.

Soldiers' Trials During Wet Season In the Philippines.

SUNDAY IS THEIR WASH DAY.

The Perils From Fever and Treacherous Filipinos—Capture of an Insurgent Spy—How Our Wounded and Dead Are Stripped—An Agreement to Prevent Disturbances.

William R. Walters, special correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, writing from Manila under date of June 1 about the rainy season, says:

Here in the Philippines Sunday is always wash day among our soldier boys. The only exception to this general rule is when there is trouble on hand and the American troops are too busy upholding the hills of Luzon with dead Filipinos to stop and wield the soap bar and washboard. But when things are quiet around camp you can always see hundreds of soldiers of a Sunday morning, stripped to the waist and making the soapsuds fly like a Montana snowstorm. This is the only chance the boys have of freshening their soiled and grimy linen.

As for water, heaven knows there's enough of it! There's water everywhere. Blankets are soaked with it. Bread is soggy with it. Leather boots are moldy and clothes are perpetually steaming with it. If you don't watch out, your rifle will rust with it, and you will wish in the depths of your aqueous soul that you were born a duck, for this is what is known as the "rainy season" in the Philippine Islands.

Ricefields that three months ago looked as green and gently undulating as Indiana farm land are now a desolate stretch of water swept bog, marsh, swamp, anything that suggests the superlative of terrestrial ooze. Through this our boys have to plow their weary way time and time again. When tired of the bog, they are given a little taste of the bush, where they push their way through underbrush reeking with the too generous rains of heaven. Traveling by road they sink up to their boot tops in black mud. From showering down until drizzling dusk they are rained upon from above, and when the clouds let up there are always a few Filipinos somewhere about to provide a leaden substitute. The trenches are filled with water and converted into miniature canals, up and down which you could all but ferry an Erie canalboat. Insignificant little streams, once no more than ankle deep, now hem us in with six or ten good feet of mud laden, raging water.

But this is not the saddest part of the story. When the rainy season comes to these islands, it brings with it a foe that stout hearts and good steel and all the gunpowder in Manila cannot withstand. This foe makes his presence felt first by a feeling of depression and uneasiness, then a stiffness, then a chill that shakes the victim till his teeth chatter and then a raging fever that puts him on his back, babbling deliriously of his home and his sweetheart and at the end, as a rule, of his mother. It is a terrible thing to see big, stalwart, careless men stricken down in this mysterious and deadly way, and it makes you think over all the little things you have done in the past and the things left undone and starts you wondering just when your own time is going to come. The haunting fear of it takes the spirit out of men who would laugh in the face of 40 armed Filipinos. It is a microbe guarded ambuscade that no scouting party can ever foretell.

When it is not fever, it is dysentery, and three days of it is often enough for the stoutest and strongest man. It seizes him in an hour, and, though he is hurried off to the hospital, he seems to melt away like April snow in Kentucky, and before word has got around camp that he is down a burial squad is ordered out, and his last bed is made in four feet of Philippine mud.

The officers of the different regiments here are, of course, doing their utmost to fight off the fevers and keep the camps in a sanitary condition and look after the welfare of the boys, but the brainiest and bravest officer who ever came out of West Point is not worth much when it comes to fighting atmosphere. Gunpowder isn't going to clear away the miasma laden air that broods over the damp woods and valleys of these islands during the rainy season, and the officers themselves feel their helplessness. So it is only a matter of looking for the highest and driest quarters, retiring closer up on Manila, as we have done, swallowing tons and tons, then more tons, of quinine, until the very taste of it haunts your nightmarish dreams and praying to God that you may last out the rainy season and live to plant Old Glory on the remotest mountain top in all the Philippine archipelago for all time.

Over this forlorn and picturesque and tumble down old city of Manila the stars and stripes are waving as I write this, but just at present among the war worn boys who are patrolling its ancient streets and its gray old fortresses there is a sort of temporary feeling of hopelessness. Not that they have by any means given up, but between now and next October, it is well known, little can actually be done to ward finally rounding up "Aggie" and bringing this undesirable war to a close. The shipload of leaden caskets which has just arrived here to carry home the American dead has not exactly brightened up things about camp, for one can't help speculating whether he'll go home inside or outside one of these lead boxes.

Word of going about here that re-enforcements are on their way to Manila at the present time and that we are to have an addition of some long needed cavalry, besides some American negro troops. But the officers are very reticent about discussing such things before the men, and consequently we are pretty well kept guessing. So in the meantime, during the period of enforced inactivity, when we have more time to think about our little grievances, there is a general feeling of depression hanging over this place. I suppose this is mostly due to the climate, for when one is inhaling mucky, humid, fever germed and debilitating air, such as you get when the rains are on here, he is not likely to feel especially chirpy and chipper. When the occasional chance does come for a brush with the enemy, however, our boys soon forget their little discomforts and show spirit enough in wading after a bunch of insurrectos through half flooded rice-fields.

Some of the pious and meek looking Filipinos who come about our camp are prodigiously eloquent in their protestations of friendship to the Americans. Not long ago a handful of our men got hold of one of these amigos who was suspiciously military looking in his bearing. He was ostensibly carrying baskets of rice into camp, but seemed to look about him and size up the situation altogether too inquisitively. Quick as a flash three or four of our men nabbed him. One of them tore his gingham shirt from his shoulders, and there, plain as day, was the telltale sign of his treachery. The hollow of his right shoulder was black and blue. Now, there is only one thing that causes that peculiar marking of the shoulder front, and it is the repeated kicking of a rifle butt against it. In other words, here was a man who had probably but a few days before been actually raining hostile bullets among our men now calmly meandering through an American camp and spying upon us. The orders respecting the treatment of friendlies by our men are very strict; otherwise there would have been one lynched insurrecto that day.

In their ways of fighting the Filipinos are more like the old Apaches of Arizona than anything I can think of in this connection. They never stand up and meet us squarely face to face. They fire, retreat and melt away, crawling back through underbrush to fire again and still once more decamp. In many of their strategic movements, in fact, they are even more unscrupulous than the red man. It is such things as these that have hardened the heart of the American soldier against the native. The mutilation of the dead by these barbarous Asiatics is a subject upon which I do not care to speak. It is not so often practiced as you may have been led to believe, but when it has occurred it has been of such a revolting character that words do not fitly describe the frenzy of mad rage and passion for revenge which it excites in our boys, especially when the remains have been recognized as those of some old friend or camp comrade.

It is the usual thing for an American soldier when shot down and left for even the shortest space of time on the field to be found stripped from head to heels. His arms and shoes are always taken first, and when there is a chance clothing is carried away as well. I know of the case of one private who was shot through the neck and fell. He was overlooked in the excitement, and when, three hours later, he was found by the Red Cross people he lay on the ground as naked as the day he was born. The Filipinos, it seems, had sneaked out and, finding him unconscious from his wound, straightway fell to stripping him. Thinking presumably that the wounded private was already dead, they did not take the trouble to dispatch him. The strange part of the affair was that the wound of the private in question was merely superficial, and in a day or two he was about again, but not before he had secured a new uniform of a blue flannel shirt and an old pair of duck trousers.

It is amusing to watch the grim smile with which the older veterans after their many months of active Filipino hunting greet the newly arrived re-enforcements which are continually disembarking and light heartedly taking up quarters here. It is useless to deny that the volunteers are homesick and want to get back to the land of the free once more, though, of course, they say little about such things as home about camp. It creates disturbances. In our quarters we have an agreement whereby the first man who begins talking of home shall be stripped of his rubber blanket and turned out naked into the night, for if there is one thing on earth that is disquieting and unsettling it is to hear some homesick boy wondering if the big, yellow harvest apples down on the old farm are ripe yet or some hairy and sunburned son of New York sadly speculating if she is spending her summer at Newport or at Saratoga.

The President Took Long Walks, While Mrs. McKinley Remained In Her Apartments.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., July 28.—President and Mrs. McKinley spent their first day at Hotel Champlain very quietly. The president took a long walk through the park surrounding the hotel. He was alone. Later he took another long walk. He keenly enjoyed the bracing air of the Adirondacks and seemed to be much relieved to get away from the cares and worries of Washington. Mrs. McKinley remained in her apartments resting and enjoying the beautiful view of lake and mountain scenery.

The president received official notice of the death of President Henreaux of the republic of Santo Domingo. He immediately dictated and sent a dispatch of condolence.

Postmaster General Smith and his wife, who intended to accompany the presidential party here, were expected to arrive in a few days, probably on Monday.

Attorney General Griggs and family engaged one of the cottages connected with the hotel and will arrive here likely Aug. 15 for a stay of several weeks.

The regular weekly hop was held in the hotel parlor last night, but the president and Mrs. McKinley did not attend, retiring early.

Soldiers' Trials During Wet Season In the Philippines.

SUNDAY IS THEIR WASH DAY.

The Perils From Fever and Treacherous Filipinos—Capture of an Insurgent Spy—How Our Wounded and Dead Are Stripped—An Agreement to Prevent Disturbances.

William R. Walters, special correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, writing from Manila under date of June 1 about the rainy season, says:

Here in the Philippines Sunday is always wash day among our soldier boys. The only exception to this general rule is when there is trouble on hand and the American troops are too busy upholding the hills of Luzon with dead Filipinos to stop and wield the soap bar and washboard. But when things are quiet around camp you can always see hundreds of soldiers of a Sunday morning, stripped to the waist and making the soap suds fly like a Montana snowstorm. This is the only chance the boys have of freshening their soiled and grimy linen.

As for water, heaven knows there's enough of it! There's water everywhere. Blankets are soaked with it. Bread is soggy with it. Leather boots are moldy and clothes are perpetually steaming with it. If you don't watch out, your rifle will rust with it, and you will wish in the depths of your aqueous soul that you were born a duck, for this is what is known as the "rainy season" in the Philippine Islands.

Ricefields that three months ago looked as green and gently undulating as Indiana farm land are now a desolate stretch of water swept bog, marsh, swamp, anything that suggests the superlative of terrestrial ooze. Through this our boys have to plow their weary way time and time again. When tired of the bog, they are given a little taste of the bush, where they push their way through underbrush reeking with the too generous rains of heaven. Traveling by road they sink up to their boot tops in black mud. From showering dawn until drizzling dusk they are rained upon from above, and when the clouds let up there are always a few Filipinos somewhere about to provide a leaden substitute. The trenches are filled with water and converted into miniature canals, up and down which you could all but ferry an Erie canalboat. Insignificant little streams, once no more than ankle deep, now hem us in with six or ten good feet of mud laden, raging water.

But this is not the saddest part of the story. When the rainy season comes to these islands, it brings with it a foe that stout hearts and good steel and all the gunpowder in Manila cannot withstand. This foe makes his presence felt first by a feeling of depression and uneasiness, then a stiffness, then a chill that shakes the victim till his teeth chatter and then a raging fever that puts him on his back, babbling deliriously of his home and his sweetheart and at the end, as a rule, of his mother. It is a terrible thing to see big, stalwart, careless men stricken down in this mysterious and deadly way, and it makes you think over all the little things you have done in the past and the things left undone and starts you wondering just when your own time is going to come. The haunting fear of it takes the spirit out of men who would laugh in the face of 40 armed Filipinos. It is a microbe guarded ambuscade that no scouting party can ever foretell.

When it is not fever, it is dysentery, and three days of it is often enough for the stoutest and strongest man. It seizes him in an hour, and, though he is hurried off to the hospital, he seems to melt away like April snow in Kentucky, and before word has got around camp that he is down a burial squad is ordered out, and his last bed is made in four feet of Philippine mud.

The officers of the different regiments here are, of course, doing their utmost to fight off the fevers and keep the camps in a sanitary condition and look after the welfare of the boys, but the brainiest and bravest officer who ever came out of West Point is not worth much when it comes to fighting atmosphere. Gunpowder isn't going to clear away the miasma laden air that broods over the damp woods and valleys of these islands during the rainy season, and the officers themselves feel their helplessness. So it is only a matter of looking for the highest and driest quarters, retiring closer upon Manila, as we have done, swallowing tons and tons, then more tons, of quinine, until the very taste of it haunts your nightmarish dreams and praying to God that you may last out the rainy season and live to plant Old Glory on the remotest mountain top in all the Philippine archipelago for all time.

Over this forlorn and picturesque and tumble down old city of Manila the stars and stripes are waving as I write this, but just at present among the war worn boys who are patrolling its ancient streets and its gray old fortresses there is a sort of temporary feeling of hopelessness. Not that they have by any means given up, but between now and next October, it is well known, little can actually be done to ward finally rounding up "Aggie" and bringing this undesirable war to a close. The shipload of leaden caskets which has just arrived here to carry home the American dead has not exactly brightened up things about camp, for one can't help speculating whether he'll go home inside or outside one of these lead boxes.

Word is going about here that reinforcements are on their way to Manila at the present time and that we are to have an addition of some long needed cavalry, besides some American negro troops. But the officers are very reticent about discussing such things before the men, and consequently we are pretty well kept guessing. So in the meantime, during the period of enforced inactivity, when we have more time to think about our little grievances, there is a general feeling of depression hanging over this place. I suppose this is mostly due to the climate, for when one is inhaling mucky, humid, fever germed and debilitating air, such as you get when the rains are on here, he is not likely to feel especially chirpy and chipper. When the occasional chance does come for a brush with the enemy, however, our boys soon forget their little discomforts and show spirit enough in wading after a bunch of insurrectos through half flooded rice fields.

Some of the pious and meek looking Filipinos who come about our camp are prodigiously eloquent in their protestations of friendship to the Americans. Not long ago a handful of our men got hold of one of these amigors who was suspiciously military looking in his bearing. He was ostensibly carrying baskets of rice into camp, but seemed to look about him and size up the situation altogether too inquisitively. Quick as a flash three or four of our men nabbed him. One of them tore his gingham shirt from his shoulders, and there, plain as day, was the telltale sign of his treachery. The hollow of his right shoulder was black and blue. Now, there is only one thing that causes that peculiar marking of the shoulder front, and it is the repeated kicking of a rifle butt against it. In other words, here was a man who had probably but a few days before been actually raining hostile bullets among our men now calmly meandering through an American camp and spying upon us. The orders respecting the treatment of friendlies by our men are very strict; otherwise there would have been one lynched insurrecto that day.

In their ways of fighting the Filipinos are more like the old Apaches of Arizona than anything I can think of in this connection. They never stand up and meet us squarely face to face. They fire, retreat and melt away, crawling back through underbrush to fire again and still once more decamp. In many of their strategic movements, in fact, they are even more unscrupulous than the red man. It is such things as these that have hardened the heart of the American soldier against the native. The mutilation of the dead by these barbarous Asiatics is a subject upon which I do not care to speak. It is not so often practiced as you may have been led to believe, but when it has occurred it has been of such a revolting character that words do not fitly describe the frenzy of mad rage and passion for revenge which it excites in our boys, especially when the remains have been recognized as those of some old friend or camp comrade.

It is the usual thing for an American soldier when shot down and left for even the shortest space of time on the field to be found stripped from head to heels. His arms and shoes are always taken first, and when there is a chance clothing is carried away as well. I know of the case of one private who was shot through the neck and fell. He was overlooked in the excitement, and when, three hours later, he was found by the Red Cross people he lay on the ground as naked as the day he was born. The Filipinos, it seems, had sneaked out and, finding him unconscious from his wound, straightway fell to stripping him. Thinking presumably that the wounded private was already dead, they did not take the trouble to dispatch him. The strange part of the affair was that the wound of the private in question was merely superficial, and in a day or two he was about again, but not before he had secured a new uniform of a blue flannel shirt and an old pair of duck trousers.

It is amusing to watch the grim smile with which the older veterans after their many months of active Filipino hunting greet the newly arrived re-enforcements which are continually disembarking and light heartedly taking up quarters here. It is useless to deny that the volunteers are homesick and want to get back to the land of the free once more, though, of course, they say little about such things as home about camp. It creates disturbances. In our quarters we have an agreement whereby the first man who begins talking of home shall be stripped of his rubber blanket and turned out naked into the night, for if there is one thing on earth that is disquieting and unsettling it is to hear some homesick boy wondering if the big, yellow harvest apples down on the old farm are ripe yet or some hairy and sunburned son of New York sadly speculating if she is spending her summer at Newport or at Saratoga.

I once knew a man who was considered a great connoisseur in feminine good looks, and he annoyed me by refusing to see any beauty in one or two girls I considered very pretty. ## THE EAST END.

WILL PUSH THE CASE

Another Man Is Hot After Brickyard Allen.

CLAIMS HE OWES $115.25

A Little Child Injured a Finger so Badly
It Will Have to be Amputated—People Want Common Dogs Shot—News of East End.

If C. E. Boyd or C. E. Allen is brought to Pittsburg C. E. Dye, who claims Allen defrauded him out of $115.25, will enter a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses against him.

Dye was seen in the East End this morning, and when asked if he would bring any action against him said: "I see no reason why Allen should not be given the full extent of the law. He got all the money from me I had and why should I not recover it from him if possible? Had I held off going on the road for Allen, selling brick from the East End plant, for several days longer, I would have been safe, but as it is, I lost everything. I expect to go to Pittsburg when Allen is brought back, and I assure you that I do not desire to let the case drop until my claim is settled."

IN ANOTHER STATE.

Boys Claim Ohio Authorities Can Do Nothing With Them.

The young boys who swim in the river between the Ohio shore and Babb's island claim they are out of the jurisdiction of the Ohio authorities. The boys say they go in swimming from the West Virginia side and therefore are safe. The Southside authorities should look into the matter, as the action of the boys at times is certainly disgraceful.

A SICK MAN.

A Well-Known Man Taken to a Hospital
Today.

John H. Mellius, well and favorably known in East End and in East Liverpool, was this morning taken to the West Penn hospital, Pittsburg, accompanied by Doctor Elliott. It is hoped that the treatment may be efficacious, as Mr. Mellius is a very sick man.

CHILD INJURED

Lost Part of a Finger by Hitting It With a Hammer.

A small child of Alex Chaffin, of Helana, had one of its fingers mashed yesterday morning by striking it with a hammer. It is very probable a portion of the finger will have to be amputated.

The Dog Nuisance.

Yesterday afternoon several men were talking on Mulberry street as to the cause of so many unmuzzled curs running at large in that part of the city. So far there has not been one dog shot, although there are a number of curs running at large without masks. The people of East End would like to see something done in this matter.

Cleaning the Run.

Street Commissioner Finley and a force of men yesterday cleaned Lake's run between First avenue and Mulberry street. All lumber lying on the banks was carted away and the improvement is very noticeable.

Among the Sick.

Mrs. J. B. Martin, who has been critically ill for several days, is now thought to be out of danger. She was conscious yesterday for the first time since she became ill.

A Child Dead.

The two-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Eck died yesterday. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment at Catholic cemetery.

New Bridge Wanted.

The East Liverpool Street Railway company has agreed to build an iron bridge over Little Yellow creek at First street, Wellsville, on condition that the county build the abutments. Petitions are now in circulation praying the county commissioners to supply funds to build the abutments.

Children's vestee suits consist of coat, vest and trousers and they sell them at 85c, $1 and $1.25 at the clearance sale at Joseph Bros. People are astonished at the low prices.

NEWELL BUZZARD

Is at Present the Only Occupant of the Jail—He Admits
His Guilt.

Mayor Bough returned last evening from Lisbon and was in his office as usual this morning.

There were no arrests last night, and the only inmate of the city jail is Newell Buzzard. He has not yet been given a hearing, but admitted that he had forged the name of Amos Anderson to the order on the West End Coal company for $1.50 and also told how he had collected $2.60 from Monroe Patterson. The boy has already served one term in the Lancaster reformatory, and will probably be sent there again.

Last Monday Ella McConnell appeared at the office of the mayor and made complaint against Charles Gerry for intoxication and using abusive and profane language. A warrant has been issued for his arrest.

The slot machines still remain in the office of the mayor, and when asked about them this morning he said they would be disposed of in the way the law provides.

STRUCK WITH A STONE.

How Toronto Entertains Visitors to That Burg.

As the tally-ho party was returning from McClelland's grove, Miss Florence Brooks, of Wellsville, who is visiting her uncle, J. C. F. Hales, of this place, says the Toronto Tribune, was struck on the head with a stone claimed to have been thrown by a well known resident of Trenton street. The crowd was a merry one and as they were passing a residence in the south end of town they were singing, when some one of the party hallooed which irritated the resident to such an extent that the above resulted. The wound inflicted by the stone is a severe one, and gave Miss Brooks considerable trouble. Doctor Watt was called and dressed the wounds.

NEW LIGHTS.

Where They Have Been Located by the Council Committee.

The light committee of council have had seven 50 candle power incandescent lights put up and they are located as follows: Two in Church alley, one on Bank street, one in Green lane, one on Lincoln avenue and two in West End. The lights have proved very satisfactory and it is the intention to have several more of them put up in the suburban districts.

MISS McNUTT

Was Elected State Superintendent of the Epworth League.

At the national convention of the Epworth League held in Indianapolis the Ohio state cabinet was reorganized and Miss Stella McNutt was elected state superintendent of the Junior League. Miss McNutt is recognized as one of the leading junior league workers in the state.

AN ACCIDENT

Is Caused by a Low Place on Pennsylvania
Avenue.

Last evening a horse driven by C. A. Bough became frightened in East End at one of the banners on a street car. The animal plunged forward, struck a low place in the road and fell, breaking one of the shafts, which ran into its hind leg. The occupant of the buggy was not injured.

Prospects of a Fight.

It is possible that at the forthcoming Democratic county convention the old fight to secure control of the party machinery in the county will again break out. The element at the county seat complains that the present organization is lifeless, lacking earnestness and aggressiveness, and it is said W. S. Potts will try to again secure the management of affairs.—Buckeye State.

The Circus Is Here.

The Harris Nickel Plate shows arrived in the city this morning and stretched their tents upon Brunt's hill. The show is one of the oldest and best on the road and will do a good business, as the afternoon performance was witnessed by a large crowd. The evening performance will begin at 8 o'clock.

The services at Spring Grove campground yesterday were well attended and were very interesting. Amanda Smith delivered addresses at each service. The music was splendid.

A report has been circulated that Amanda Smith would not be at the campground on Sunday. The report is false in every particular, as she will not only be present, but will deliver addresses at each service. Special music has been engaged for the day.

Mrs. William Chisholm, of Pittsburg, spent yesterday at the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gipner, Mrs. J. T. Elliott and Mrs. M. B. Johnson were visitors at the grounds yesterday.

Fell Off a Bicycle.

They Have No Games.

ARE MAD ABOUT IT.

Northern County Democrats Are Kicking
on Way Call Was Issued.

Under the heading "A Quiet Call" the Salem Herald says: "J. J. Weisend, chairman of the Democratic county committee, has issued a call for the Democratic county convention. It seems that the call was exclusively published in the East Liverpool Crisis on July 19. Until yesterday no part of the county, outside of East Liverpool, was aware of the fact that the call had been issued. The date set for the convention is next Tuesday, Aug. 1. This leaves mighty little time for outlying townships to select delegates. Weisend may have been satisfied with publishing the call in a paper which professes no politics at all, but the woods are full of Democrats up this way who in no wise sympathize in the action of the county chairman in being so quiet with the party's business."

A NEW ORDER.

Newspapers Are Now Barred at the Wells-
ville Shops.

At the Wellsville shops of the Pennsylvania company orders have been posted prohibiting the distribution of newspapers during working hours. The foremen claim that the papers were read by the men while at work, and that much time was lost. The rules will not interfere with the men receiving their papers at the gate entrances during the noon hour, or after their day's work is finished.

Commission Practically Completed the Work.

A CIVIL CASE WAS POSTPONED

Chicken Thieves Caught In the Act Early This Morning--Quit the Bridge. Items of Interest to Those Who Reside on the Virginia Side.

The commissioners appointed by the court of Hancock county to assess the damage to property on the Virginia side, opposite this city, partially completed their work yesterday afternoon, and next week will hear testimony in the courthouse at Cumberland. Those who viewed the property were: Hon. J. B. Sommerville, of the Pennsylvania company, of W. Va.; William Waldrick and Thomas Johnson, engineers of the railroad company; Hon. J. D. Donehue, Cumberland; Judge Melvin, Wheeling, and Attorney Coniff, Wheeling.

Those who represented the property owners were: John McGarry, of this city; W. F. Lones, of Wellsville; Judge Campbell and A. P. Marshall, of Wheeling.

The commission spent Wednesday and Thursday viewing the properties. The first day they worked in the vicinity of Kenilworth and yesterday completed their trip east of the narrows. Next week they will hear testimony at Cumberland and when this is completed will assess the damage and report the same to the court.

Doctor Russell Will Have to Wait a Few Weeks.

The case of Doctor Russell against Charles Hope for $35, claimed due for professional services rendered to Charles Pugh, did not come up before Squire Finley last evening, as was expected. At the First Greater America Colonial exposition, which was opened in Omaha July 1 and will continue to Nov. 1, 1899, a minimum of 45,000 lights will be employed, and through their aid a fairy city has thus far been constructed, which is more like a crystallized dream or a magic city, created by a wave of the wand, than a thing of stone and plaster and mortar and brick, says The Electrical Age. Electric lighting is done by the aid of underground cables. A novel feature is the race track. At night races are run over a course as bright as day. Searchlights, focusing lamps and incandescent lamps will be used ad libitum.

John Bull and Uncle Sam.

John Bull once had a little boy Who ran away from home; The hardy fellow, full of joy, Loved in the west to roam; He had the daring of his sire, He had his genius too, And though he passed through storms of fire He aye the stronger grew. Fighting little Sam! Plucky little Sam! A word to be for mankind free Saw pushing little Sam!

John Bull once tried to stop his growth, But Sam hit out at once; So poor, old John for peace was loath And ceased the youth to bounce. To manhood's lusty force and vim He grew at freedom's call, And millions went to worship him, So he made room for all. Mighty Uncle Sam! Glorious Uncle Sam! From sea to sea, great, brave and free, Spread dauntless Uncle Sam!

John Bull, with proud and loving heart, This message to him sends: "Dear Sam--Of me you are a part-- We must, we shall, be friends; United, we'll dare war's alarms-- Shake hands, my boy, my Sam. Hurrah! Come all the world in arms. We will not care a --- (clam)!" The union jack of John, The stars and stripes of Sam, Shall rulers be on land and sea-- Three cheers for John and Sam!

"Cleanliness is akin to Godliness."
Judging by this standard, and applying

HAVE YOU SEEN SMITH?

If You Have His Bondsmen
Would Like to See You.

HE HAS DISAPPEARED SUDDENLY

And Failed to Put In an Appearance Last
Evening When His Case Was Called For
Hearing Before Justice McLane--His
Bond Declared Forfeited.

"Where is Smith?" is the question that
his bondsmen are now asking each
other.

Last evening in the court of Justice
McLane the case of the state of Ohio
against William Smith, charged with assault by Miss Jessie Shamp, was set
for hearing. Smith had been arrested
last Saturday evening and upon his appearance in court Monday morning had given bond in the sum of $500 for his
appearance in court last evening, with
E. W. Hill, A. Bernstein, John Mear
Smith and James Smith as securities.

The trial was set for 7:30 last evening,
and at the appointed time the witnesses
for the state, Miss Jessie Shamp, Isaac Shamp and Harry Thompson, were present, as was Attorney Thompson,
who intended to look after the state's
end of the case. Attorney W. H. Hill,
counsel for Smith, was also present, and
there was a good audience, but Smith
was not there.

The hour of 8 o'clock arrived and still
he had not come, and the little party
assembled spent some time in discussing
his disappearance. Finally Justice
McLane broke the monotony by announcing that the bond was forfeited,
but the bondsmen would be given a
reasonable time to produce their man.
They will not have to pay the sum for
some time should Smith fail to appear,
as the case will first have to go to common pleas court and the bond be declared forfeited there.

The bondsmen will make every effort
to find out where Smith has gone but at
present have no clue to his whereabouts.
Smith attended lodge on Tuesday evening and seemed in good spirits and some people claim they saw him as late as Wednesday evening. In this case he must have left town on the 5 o'clock
train. The bondsmen are confident that they will succeed in getting Smith.

SMITH'S STATEMENT.

Declared His Innocence to the News Review Shortly After
He Was Arrested.

Shortly after Smith had been released
on bail he called at the office of the NEWS REVIEW and made a clear statement saying that he could prove he was
not guilty of the charge and that it was a case of blackmail. He asked that the paper withhold comment on the case
until the trial and if he was proved guilty to give him a habeas. Officers are now seeking to give him the object of his desire. Smith stated that if he was guilty of the charge no sentence could
be too heavy for him.

TO ENGLAND.

The Supposition Is That Smith
Has Already Started
For Europe.

There is a rumor that Smith has started for England, and a telegram has been sent to New York notifying the authorities to watch for him. The police in the various cities have been notified, and every effort will be made to catch him. It is now stated that Smith had packed up, and was prepared to leave for England the Saturday evening he was arrested.

HE WAS ON THE OLYMPIA

And Was In the Nice Little Engagement

DEWEY HAD WITH THE DONS

In Manila Bay a Year Ago Last May—Murray S. Holloway, Chief of Machinists on the Commodore's Flagship, Visits This City and Talks Most Interestingly.

M. S. Holloway, late chief of machinists on the famous Olympia, Dewey's flag ship, paid the NEWS REVIEW office a visit yesterday afternoon and entertained the management with an intensely realistic account of the entrance of the American fleet to the Manila harbor and the contest which afterward occurred. His account of the later capture of the gunboat Callaoa was listened to with deep interest.

This small Spanish gunboat had been cruising for some twelve months previous amid the islands under Spanish control and dominion, and the captain steamed into Manila harbor, unaware of the fact that war had been declared between Spain and the United States. As is customary in the navy, he signaled for the Spanish admiral's permission to anchor, thinking the American vessels were in the harbor on a visit. Dewey gave command that a shot should be fired across the newcomer's bow, as

This was done, but no attention was paid to it. "A little closer," said Dewey, and another shot met with the same result. "Hit her," said Dewey to the gunner in command of the piece, and a portion of the rigging dropped into the waters of the bay as the expert sent the heavy missile home. Up went the white flag and down came the Spanish colors, and soon afterward the captain, a brave and gallant sailor, stood on the deck of the Olympia, asking an explanation and asking where the Spanish commander and fleet were. He was given the desired information and shown the wrecks of the late handsome war vessels. He tendered his sword, which was not taken from him; and then utterly and cried like a child, hardly able to realize the great misfortune which had overtaken his commander and comrades. Holloway states that it was indeed a very sad sight, and words of sympathy and good feeling greeted the stranger on every hand.

Mr. Holloway is a cousin of W. S. Holloway, now a resident of Wellsville, and connected with the new local telephone company.

Murray S. Holloway has been in the U. S. navy between six and seven years, and has been with the Olympia between four and five years. He reached San Francisco in the month of April last, and has retired from the service. He spoke in warm terms of praise of Admiral Dewey, his officers and men, and states that the life of a sailor in the U. S. navy is far preferable to that of a soldier in the regular army. He states that

He Witnessed the Fight

of the Tenth Pennsylvania infantry on the night of July 31, 1898, and tells how the great search lights of the Olympia flashed over the Spanish entrenchments, hoping to give our artillerymen and soldiers a better chance of reaching the enemy. He also tells of noting, from the deck of the Olympia, the colors of the Tenth as the regiment marched up the beach on the morning of August 13; the halt in the waters of the bay, under the protection of the garden walls, and of

The Showers of Shot

sent over the regiment's head from the deck of the captured Callaoa, aimed at the Spanish sharpshooters who were attempting to pick off our leader, Col. Alex. L. Hawkins.

FORMER COLLEAGUES

Of the Columbiana County Bar Pay Eloquent Tribute

TO MEMORY OF JUDGE P. C. YOUNG

A Memorial Minute Adopted by the Association--Funeral Services Today--Body Lying In State at the County Seat, Viewed by Hundreds.

LISBON, July 28.—[Special]—At a meeting of the Columbiana county bar held in common pleas court room today, of which Judge P. M. Smith was president, a committee appointed at a previous meeting, consisting of Messrs. N. B. Billingsley, John W. Morrison, W. G. Wells, J. G. Moore and J. C. Boone, reported a memorial minute in honor of the late P. C. Young.

Having briefly recited the story of the brilliant and honorable career of the deceased, the memorial continues:

"As a soldier he was brave and patient, patriotically and cheerfully enduring all the privations, suffering and danger of camp and field. As a judge he presided with marked ability, heard courteously, considered soberly and decided impartially. As a lawyer he was a leading member of the bar, true to his clients; eloquent and courageous, he was tactful and skillful in the trial of cases. Candid and dignified in his relations with his clients, his professional brethren and the court—the soul of honor. As a citizen his ideal was exalted and he was always in the front rank of those who worked for the good of society. His goodness of heart and sympathetic nature created a fellowship with all who knew him—to know him was to love him."

Appropriate addresses were delivered by Judge Smith, Judge Billingsley, J. A. Martin, Judge Moore, Judge Boone, Hon. R. W. Tayler, Judge Wells and Attorney D. W. Harris, of Alliance.

The body lay in state at the Methodist church from 12 o'clock and was viewed by a large concourse of people. The bar and civic organizations attended in a body. After the sermon by Reverend Fisher, Congressman Tayler delivered a eulogy on the deceased.

Deep Sea Fish Die "Falling Upward."

The officers of the cable steamer Minia of Philadelphia, which is now endeavoring in midocean to locate and repair a broken cable 1,500 feet below the surface of the water, state that their instruments show the bottom of the ocean to have a temperature below the freezing point and that there is a total absence of light, says the Philadelphia Record. At this depth the pressure is estimated at about a ton to the square inch in every 1,000 fathoms. The officers say that a great many of the deep sea fish are so peculiarly constructed that they often lose their lives by chasing the instruments toward the surface. They die by what experts call "falling upward." As soon as they get out of their accustomed level the decreased pressure extends the air within them, and the fish shoot to the surface, but are dead before they reach that point.

Negro's Head Immune From Lightning.

The lightning played some queer pranks at Mr. Lal Penick's home in Madison, Ga., the other afternoon. Mrs. Penick and two colored boys were in the storeroom when a bolt of lightning came down the stovepipe, knocked down one of the negroes and killed a cat directly under the house, says the Madison (Ga.) Madisionian. The negro soon recovered, but the cat was burned in streaks to death instantly. There seemed to be a special providence over the negro, else it must have struck his head.

MAHONING WILL HAVE A MAN, TOO

Secretary Ed A. King Talks to a Youngstown Telegram Reporter and Makes the Congressman's Announcement Which Was Not Unexpected in the District.

Congressman R. W. Tayler, of Columbiana county, will be a candidate for a fourth term re-election, says the Youngstown Telegram.

This statement was made by Edward King, secretary of committee of elections No 1 of which Congressman Tayler is chairman, and who is the congressman's political manager in this district. He added that the Republicans would have the usual majority in his county.

Mahoning Republicans, says the Telegram, are unanimous in the belief that it is that county's turn to have the congressional nominee, and will undoubtedly present the name of one or more candidates for the nomination.

BULLS HITCHED TO GUNS

Unique but Effective Use of Philippine Cattle.

BATTERY PRACTICE AT ILOILO.

Major Sternberg Writes About Some Things Which Strike an American Observer in Our Colonies—Adaptation of the Panayan Character. Panay's Glorious Climate.

Major Theodore Sternberg, paymaster and treasurer at Iloilo, writes to his brother, Surgeon General Sternberg, regarding the conditions of that part of the Philippines as follows, says the Washington Post:

"I send you a photograph of a section of Captain Bridgman's battery, Sixth artillery, now stationed at Iloilo. The horsing of this battery with native bulls is the most unique and picturesque thing in the army. Don't for a moment think these bulls and their capacity for traveling are to be compared with an ox train on the plains in the early days you and I so well remember. These are trotting bulls. The other day the battery was yoked up and was in battery three miles away in 25 minutes. The men in the battery are very proud of their bull teams and carefully groom them. The other day I saw one of the men mounted on a bull, artillery saddle, herding the bunch. One tried to break the herd, and the mounted bull jumped ditches, outran the other and in all things comported himself as well as any herd pony could do.

"I have now been in these islands nearly eight months, and up to date I have seen more delightful weather than I ever saw before in any country in the same time. When I think of the beautiful homes at Los Angeles and at Pasadena, Cal., with their subtropical vegetation, I cannot help thinking that when the same kind of men take hold of these islands they will be the most delightful spots in the world.

"I always suffered from catarrh in the States. Now I would not know I had a nose if the city was thoroughly policed. I look forward to the time when there shall be American homes, American families and American schools here. I want to see American ideas grafted on to this native stock, and I believe the graft will grow and bear fruit. Catch these natives young, and they can be made, the rank and file of them, useful citizens, but what can you expect when labor is not considered honorable, when the foreigner would not get up to help himself to a cigar on a table in the same room, but will call for a servant to get it for him? I am proud of the fact that in America Lincoln stands for honest labor and its just reward. We must show these people by object lessons the honor which is in honest labor, the delights of American home life on the farm and the dignity of owning your own farm and living on it.

"I have met many inquiries as to when are the Americans going to establish schools. These people are anxious to learn and want schools, and after the fighting is over nothing our people can do would meet a quicker or more grateful response than free schools. I fully believe that the rate of wages paid is the real criterion by which to judge of the condition of a people. Not far from Iloilo is a plantation—sugar. The owner, a foreigner, paid $4 Mexican, or $2 United States, a month for his laborers. Just think of it—$2 per month for a man! The man who wishes labor at such a price is the kind who believes in colonial government for these islands. I want these people taught to earn and get decent wages, and that is the bottom of this whole question for the future, and the elevation of labor here is the one we must use. That done in these islands will make it easier to benefit the people of the entire orient.

"It makes me tired to read the speeches and newspaper articles against American occupation of these islands. The 1st of May is the Fourth of July of the future of these people. The American Indian melted away because he could not and would not live the settled and laborious life of civilization. These people here will, I fully believe. These peasantry quickly catch on if shown, and will soon use American plows, put on shoes and stockings, go to school, get up caucuses, nominate tickets, vote and hunt for office as readily as our Americans do at home. Those who have had an opportunity for education are as highly cultivated as any one, but continental rather than English. A man is a creature of environment anyway.

"One of the funniest things illustrative of this I noticed the other day. I was introduced to a Chinese mestizo, who talks English with the most pronounced cockney accent. His h's are used or not used, and all the other peculiarities of the cockney just as if he were born in sound of Bow Bells. More than that, he thinks in English, calls himself a Britisher and talks of his queen and our navy, and yet he never saw England—a product of Hongkong. America must create the environment, and time will do the rest. It is because I think I know and realize the philosophy of American ideas, the part these ideas play now and are intended to play in the future of the world, that I so wish to see every one of our glorious soldiers who wishes it enabled to remain here and each become a center of American thought."

TRAINING DIVERS FOR NAVY.

Special Class of Instruction to Be Formed at Newport.

A special class will be formed at the naval training station at Newport for the instruction of men to become divers in the navy. Every warship in our navy has from one to four men on board who are capable of donning the heavy rubber suit of a diver, disappearing below the water and cutting a hawser from the blades of the propeller or clearing away any obstruction that may become entangled in the propelling gear. For this delicate duty men are selected with special regard to their fitness, care being observed that those put into the class are of robust physique, perfect health, with steady nerve and cool head.

The names of these men do not appear in the naval register, they being rated as gunners' mates. One of the officers who have served at the training station where men are being drilled to become divers said recently in speaking of this matter: "One of the main requirements for a man who wishes to be a diver in the navy is a good nerve and the ability to keep from getting rattled. Many disasters have resulted simply because men have become rattled while under water. It is nothing unusual for a candidate to be brought up unconscious after a trial, with blood issuing from his mouth and nose as the result of a hemorrhage.

"The momentary relaxation of a man's nerves is apt to bring on an attack of this sort, while all the experts declare that if a diver keeps cool and preserves his wits he will come out all right. Before men are admitted to this class they are put through the severest sort of a physical examination."—Baltimore Sun.

ONE OF CERVERA'S GUNS.

Description of Relic to Be Placed in Brooklyn's Union League Club.

The 1 pounder breechloading rapid fire gun which Rear Admiral Schley is going to present to the Union League club of Brooklyn will rest in the clubhouse on the same pedestal which supported it on Admiral Cervera's flagship during the battle off Santiago. The gun is in perfect working order and still carries its bullet scarred shield. It weighs about 250 pounds.

After the Vizcaya was disabled Rear Admiral J. W. Philip, at that time in command of the Texas, but at present commandant of the Brooklyn navy yard, with several other officers, visited the wrecked vessels and among other things secured this gun. It was placed on board the Texas, where a Krag-Jorgensen rifle was fired point blank at the shield at a distance of 20 feet. The bullet penetrated the three-quarter inch shell plate as though it had been so much paper, making a hole about half an inch in diameter, says the New York Sun.

The gun was transferred to the cruiser Brooklyn, Schley's flagship, where it was when the Brooklyn was sent recently to the Brooklyn yard. Captain Jewell of the Brooklyn had it sent to Admiral Philip's office, where it was cleaned up. It will be turned over to the Union League club within a few weeks. The gun will be polished and bronzed, while the carriage is to be handsomely painted before being presented to the club. The shield, which is semicircular, is about 2 by 4 feet in size, and on this will be placed the inscription. The club will make room for the gun in the center of its big reading room.

And Then Eat Him Up.

ITO BRING TREES AND ALL.

How an Orange Grower Intends to Sell His Fruit in the North.

"I am just now hard at work," said a New Orleans promoter, "on one of the biggest, brightest and most spectacular enterprises of the present day. It originates with an extensive orange grower of the lower coast. He suffered severely by the freeze of last season, but he is a man of unlimited resources, and he has thought up a scheme to wrest the spoils of winter from the clutch of nature. No, that isn't a quotation from the prospectus; it's a simple, modest statement of fact. His proposition is to take a number of bearing orange trees and transplant them in cars especially prepared for their reception, making up special trains of, say 20 cars apiece, which, averaging six trees each, to give them plenty of room, will make 120 trees to the train.

While history does not record a succession of such severe winters as the last, still, to be absolutely on the safe side, the intention is to keep the cars moving Florida-ward, to the extreme southern point, and by staying always in the warm zone positively insure the life and productiveness of the plant. Trees thus treated yield double the usual quantity. But that is not all. As soon as the crop has reached maturity the trains will be run north and the fruit sold direct from the trees."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

SALT RESTORES A FLY'S LIFE

Omaha Woman Tests the Discovery Made by an Englishman.

Mrs. Hattie L. Hawver of Omaha, according to the Chicago Record, has just proved the efficacy of salt in restoring life to insects which had presumably become inanimate from drowning. Concerning the experiment made Mrs. Hawver said:

"After reading the account of the discovery of the young English mechanic Mansfield, in which it was alleged that insects and animals apparently dead from drowning had been resuscitated by the application of salt, I gave the experiment a trial. I captured a common house fly and held it under the water until all signs of life were gone. When I went to remove it, it was at the bottom of the bowl. I laid it on a cloth and sprinkled a liberal supply of salt over it. It did not creep out and fly off in 'two minutes,' and when nearly half an hour had passed without result I was almost ready to call the 'great discovery' a great fake. A few minutes later, however, my fly began to kick and then walked away."

Mrs. Hawver suggests that salt might prove a valuable remedy in the treatment of dropsy by the application of dry salt baths. Regarding this theory a member of the Creighton Medical college faculty expressed a doubt that salt would have any effect in the treatment of dropsy.

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours and union labor employed.

UNION PAPERS.

All Union papers of East Liverpool are known to the various craft and unions of the city by the printing of the above Union Labels at the head of their columns.

PATRONIZE UNION CLERKS.

The above trade-mark when found on the sole or lining of a boot or shoe, is a guarantee that the same is made by union labor. Look for the above design stamped on the sole of every pair of boots or shoes you buy.

The Journeymen Tailor's Label is to be found in the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the under side of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants. It is printed in black ink on white linen.

LETTER FROM MANILA.

Soldiers' Trials During Wet Season In the Philippines.

SUNDAY IS THEIR WASH DAY.

The Perils From Fever and Treacherous Filipinos—Capture of an Insurgent Spy—How Our Wounded and Dead Are Stripped—An Agreement to Prevent Disturbances.

William R. Walters, special correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, writing from Manila under date of June 1 about the rainy season, says:

Here in the Philippines Sunday is always wash day among our soldier boys. The only exception to this general rule is when there is trouble on hand and the American troops are too busy upholding the hills of Luzon with dead Filipinos to stop and wield the soap bar and washboard. But when things are quiet around camp you can always see hundreds of soldiers of a Sunday morning, stripped to the waist and making the soapsuds fly like a Montana snowstorm. This is the only chance the boys have of freshening their soiled and grimy linen.

As for water, heaven knows there's enough of it! There's water everywhere. Blankets are soaked with it. Bread is soggy with it. Leather boots are moldy and clothes are perpetually steaming with it. If you don't watch out, your rifle will rust with it, and you will wish in the depths of your aqueous soul that you were born a duck, for this is what is known as the "rainy season" in the Philippine Islands.

Ricefields that three months ago looked as green and gently undulating as Indiana farm land are now a desolate stretch of water swept bog, marsh, swamp, anything that suggests the superlative of terrestrial oozeiness. Through this our boys have to plow their weary way time and time again. When tired of the bog, they are given a little taste of the bush, where they push their way through underbrush reeking with the too generous rains of heaven. Traveling by road they sink up to their boot tops in black mud. From showering dawn until drizzling dusk they are rained upon from above, and when the clouds let up there are always a few Filipinos somewhere about to provide a leaden substitute. The trenches are filled with water and converted into miniature canals, up and down which you could all but ferry an Erie canalboat. Insignificant little streams, once no more than ankle deep, now hem us in with six or ten good feet of mud laden, raging water.

But this is not the saddest part of the story. When the rainy season comes to these islands, it brings with it a foe that stout hearts and good steel and all the gunpowder in Manila cannot withstand. This foe makes his presence felt first by a feeling of depression and uneasiness, then a stiffness, then a chill that shakes the victim till his teeth chatter and then a raging fever that puts him on his back, babbling deliriously of his home and his sweetheart and at the end, as a rule, of his mother. It is a terrible thing to see big, stalwart, careless men stricken down in this mysterious and deadly way, and it makes you think over all the little things you have done in the past and the things left undone and starts you wondering just when your own time is going to come. The haunting fear of it takes the spirit out of men who would laugh in the face of 40 armed Filipinos. It is a microbe guarded ambuscade that no scouting party can ever foretell.

When it is not fever, it is dysentery, and three days of it is often enough for the stoutest and strongest man. It seizes him in an hour, and, though he is hurried off to the hospital, he seems to melt away like April snow in Kentucky, and before word has got around camp that he is down a burial squad is ordered out, and his last bed is made in four feet of Philippine mud.

The officers of the different regiments here are, of course, doing their utmost to fight off the fevers and keep the camps in a sanitary condition and look after the welfare of the boys, but the brainiest and bravest officer who ever came out of West Point is not worth much when it comes to fighting atmosphere. Gunpowder isn't going to clear away the miasma laden air that broods over the damp woods and valleys of these islands during the rainy season, and the officers themselves feel their helplessness. So it is only a matter of looking for the highest and driest quarters, retiring closer upon Manila, as we have done, swallowing tons and tons, then more tons, of quinine, until the very taste of it haunts your nightmarish dreams and praying to God that you may last out the rainy season and live to plant Old Glory on the remotest mountain top in all the Philippine archipelago for all time.

Over this forlorn and picturesque and tumble down old city of Manila the stars and stripes are waving as I write this, but just at present among the war worn boys who are patrolling its ancient streets and its gray old fortresses there is a sort of temporary feeling of hopelessness. Not that they have by any means given up, but between now and next October, it is well known, little can actually be done to ward finally rounding up "Aggie" and bringing this undesirable war to a close. The shiplod of leaden caskets which has just arrived here to carry home the American dead has not exactly brightened up things about camp, for one can't help speculating whether he'll go home inside or outside one of these lead boxes.

Word is going about here that re-enforcements are on their way to Manila at the present time and that we are to have an addition of some long needed cavalry, besides some American negro troops. But the officers are very reticent about discussing such things before the men, and consequently we are pretty well kept guessing. So in the meantime, during the period of enforced inactivity, when we have more time to think about our little grievances, there is a general feeling of depression hanging over this place. I suppose this is mostly due to the climate, for when one is inhaling mucky, humid, fever germed and debilitating air, such as you get when the rains are on here, he is not likely to feel especially chirpy and chipper. When the occasional chance does come for a brush with the enemy, however, our boys soon forget their little discomforts and show spirit enough in wading after a bunch of insurgents through half flooded rice-fields.

Some of the pious and meek looking Filipinos who come about our camp are prodigiously eloquent in their protestations of friendship to the Americans. Not long ago a handful of our men got hold of one of these amigos who was suspiciously military looking in his bearing. He was ostensibly carrying baskets of rice into camp, but seemed to look about him and size up the situation altogether too inquisitively. Quick as a flash three or four of our men nabbed him. One of them tore his gingham shirt from his shoulders, and there, plain as day, was the telltale sign of his treachery. The hollow of his right shoulder was black and blue. Now, there is only one thing that causes that peculiar marking of the shoulder front, and it is the repeated kicking of a rifle butt against it. In other words, here was a man who had probably but a few days before been actually raining hostile bullets among our men now calmly meandering through an American camp and spying upon us. The orders respecting the treatment of friendlies by our men are very strict; otherwise there would have been one lynched insurrecto that day.

In their ways of fighting the Filipinos are more like the old Apaches of Arizona than anything I can think of in this connection. They never stand up and meet us squarely face to face. They fire, retreat and melt away, crawling back through underbrush to fire again and still once more decamp. In many of their strategic movements, in fact, they are even more unscrupulous than the red man. It is such things as these that have hardened the heart of the American soldier against the native. The mutilation of the dead by these barbarous Asiatics is a subject upon which I do not care to speak. It is not so often practiced as you may have been led to believe, but when it has occurred it has been of such a revolting character that words do not fitly describe the frenzy of mad rage and passion for revenge which it excites in our boys, especially when the remains have been recognized as those of some old friend or camp comrade.

It is the usual thing for an American soldier when shot down and left for even the shortest space of time on the field to be found stripped from head to heels. His arms and shoes are always taken first, and when there is a chance clothing is carried away as well. I know of the case of one private who was shot through the neck and fell. He was overlooked in the excitement, and when, three hours later, he was found by the Red Cross people he lay on the ground as naked as the day he was born. The Filipinos, it seems, had sneaked out and, finding him unconscious from his wound, straightway fell to stripping him. Thinking presumably that the wounded private was already dead, they did not take the trouble to dispatch him. The strange part of the affair was that the wound of the private in question was merely superficial, and in a day or two he was about again, but not before he had secured a new uniform of a blue flannel shirt and an old pair of duck trousers.

It is amusing to watch the grim smile with which the older veterans after their many months of active Filipino hunting greet the newly arrived re-enforcements which are continually disembarking and light heartedly taking up quarters here. It is useless to deny that the volunteers are homesick and want to get back to the land of the free once more, though, of course, they say little about such things as home about camp. It creates disturbances. In our quarters we have an agreement whereby the first man who begins talking of home shall be stripped of his rubber blanket and turned out naked into the night, for if there is one thing on earth that is disquieting and unsettling it is to hear some homesick boy wondering if the big, yellow harvest apples down on the old farm are ripe yet or some hairy and unburned son of New York sadly speculating if she is spending her summer at Newport or at Saratoga.

Beauty In Woman.

I once knew a man who was considered a great connoisseur in feminine good looks, and he annoyed me by refusing to see any beauty in one or two girls I considered very pretty. At last, in mild exasperation, I turned to him and asked him what he thought constituted beauty in a woman. He answered, "A pretty hand, a sweet voice and spirit in the eye."

The President Took Long Walks, While Mrs. McKinley Remained In Her Apartments.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., July 28.—President and Mrs. McKinley spent their first day at Hotel Champlain very quietly. The president took a long walk through the park surrounding the hotel. He was alone. Later he took another long walk. He keenly enjoyed the bracing air of the Adirondacks and seemed to be much relieved to get away from the cares and worries of Washington. Mrs. McKinley remained in her apartments resting and enjoying the beautiful view of lake and mountain scenery.

The president received official notice of the death of President Heurieux of the republic of Santo Domingo. He immediately dictated and sent a dispatch of condolence.

Postmaster General Smith and his wife, who intended to accompany the presidential party here, were expected to arrive in a few days, probably on Monday.

Attorney General Griggs and family engaged one of the cottages connected with the hotel and will arrive here likely Aug. 15 for a stay of several weeks.

The regular weekly hop was held in the hotel parlor last night, but the president and Mrs. McKinley did not attend, retiring early.
